LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

SELECT COMMITTEE ON SMALL BUSINESS OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE UNITED STATES,

Washington, D.C., December 31, 1962.

To Members of the House Small Business Committee:

I am transmitting herewith for the consideration of the Select Committee on Small Business an interim report covering our study of the impact of tax-exempt foundations and charitable trusts on our economy—dealing, in part, with foundation-controlled enterprises in competition with taxpaying businessmen. This study embraces 534 foundations and charitable trusts.

The object of our study is to determine whether legislation is needed in order to provide effective supervisory controls over tax-exempt foundations and protect the public.

Within the limits imposed by our resources, we have tried to put into print the story of what has taken place in 534 foundations during the period of 1951 through 1960.

This document will provide the necessary source material for members of the Small Business Committee and members of the Ways and Means Committee, as well as all other Members of Congress.

Chapters I and III are, for the most part, the same as the interim reports I inserted in the Congressional Record of July 23, 1962, and August 20, 1962—in connection with income, assets, liabilities, net worth, and related subjects. Tabulation of 10 additional foundations has been completed since then, and adjustments have been made for errors in machine data processing and in transposition.

Chapter II is new material relating to expenses, contributions, gifts, grants, scholarships, etc., paid out by the 534 foundations.

Chapter IV deals with unfinished business.

Chapter V contains my recommendations for the consideration of the Members.

According to the figures compiled for us by the Internal Revenue Service, there were 45,124 tax-exempt foundations at the close of 1960 as against 12,295 at the end of

The 534 foundations—which are under study by the committee—had assets of no less than $10 billion at the end of 1960. They had aggregate untaxed receipts of almost $7 billion during the period of 1951 through 1960. During the one year 1960, their total receipts were $1.34 billion as against $554 million in 1951. I find it difficult to reconcile the withdrawal of $1 billion annually from the reach of the Treasury with the Federal Government's pressing need for revenue.

During the period of 1951 through 1960, the contributions, gifts, grants, scholarships, etc., paid out by the 534 foundations totaled $3,448,867,894 (see Schedule 3A for details)—roughly 50 percent of their aggregate receipts of $6,981,180,819. They claimed expenses, including administrative and operating expenses, of $721,199,586—almost 10 percent of the total receipts.

One hundred eleven of those 534 foundations owned 10 percent or more of at least one class of stock in one or more of 263 different corporations on December 31, 1960.

The stockownership of those 111 foundations ranged from 10 percent to 100 percent, and included many well-known companies such as the following:

Ford Motor Co.
Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co.
Eli Lilly & Co.
Kellogg Co.
Callaway Mills Co.
Duke Power Co.

Unquestionably, the economic life of our Nation has become so intertwined with foundations that unless something is done about it they will hold a dominant position in every phase of American life.

S. S. Kresge Co.

The forerunner of modern antitrust enforcement was the successful prosecution in 1907 of the Rockefeller-controlled monopoly, Standard Oil Co. As a result, competition was restored in the industry by the creation of a number of oil companies; e.g., Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), Standard Oil Co. (Kentucky), et al. Additionally, an atmosphere was created wherein other companies could and did enter and compete in this field.

Now, the multimillion-dollar foundations have replaced the trusts which were broken up during the Theodore Roosevelt administration.

It is a well-known fact that the Rockefeller family controls Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), and the Rockefeller-controlled foundations own a substantial part of the corporation. At the close of 1960, 7 Rockefeller-controlled foundations owned 7,891,567 shares of common stock of Standard Oil of New Jersey with a market value of $324,946,110. The same 7 foundations owned 602,127 shares of the common stock of Socony Mobil Oil Co. with a market value of $23,610,770. Two Rockefeller foundations owned 306,013 shares of Continental Oil capital stock with a market value of $17,060,224 (the Rockefeller Foundation itself held 300,000 of these shares with a market value of $16,725,000); 4 Rockefeller foundations owned 468,135 shares of Ohio Oil common stock with a market value of $17,998,495; 5 Rockefeller foundations owned 1,256,305 shares of the common stock of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana with a market value of $59,736,991; and the Rockefeller Foundation, itself, owned 100,000 shares of the capital stock of Union Tank Car Co. with a market value of $3,100,000.

If Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) were to attain substantial ownership in its competitors, it would certainly tend to eliminate competition and again tend toward monopoly, and engage the Department of Justice in inquiry.

The use of a subterfuge—in the form of Rockefeller-controlled foundations—in effect produces the same result as if Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) owned substantial stock interest in Continental Oil, Ohio Oil, Standard Oil Co. (Indiana), et al.

In 1908, President Theodore Roosevelt wrote, "The only way to counteract the movement in which these men have been engaged is to make clear to the public what they have done in the past and just what they are seeking to accomplish in the present."

Each day ownership of an increasing number of corporations is finding its way into tax-exempt foundations. One fairly recent case involves the Gulf Oil Corp. According to our records, the Gulf Oil Foundation of Houston—a company foundation created by the Gulf Oil Corp.—submitted an application for tax exemption to the IRS on May 21, 1961. Two months later, on July 28, 1961, the IRS granted it tax exemption.

When Gulf Oil organized this foundation, it turned over to the foundation 100 percent of the voting common stock of Pontiac Refining Corp. of Corpus Christi, Tex., valued at $32 million.

During 1960, its first year of operation, the Gulf Oil Foundation had income of $750,000 and only disbursed $380,000 for the purpose for which it was granted tax exemption.

This means that the dividends paid out by Pontiac Refining Corp.—which were once taxable to its taxpaying stockholders—are now being received by a tax-exempt foundation and are hence out of reach of the Federal and State tax collectors.

This has important implications for our economy. It is my hope that our studies will encourage the American people to take a close look at this tremendous concentration of economic power. The White House has taken an important step by putting together an intragovernmental group to study the problem. The group is composed of officials from the White House, Council of Economic Advisers, Treasury, Justice, and the Budget Bureau.

Our findings show, among other things, that a donor can, by a loan or exchange, secure a return of assets that have been donated should the occasion arise; that he can secure additional capital when needed, at "reasonable" rates; that foundation funds have been used to help a donor when he found himself in a proxy fight; and that foundation funds have been used to confer benefits on employees of companies, a substantial competitive advantage.

Never before have the economic factors of the complex and rapidly expanding foundation business been put under the microscope of public scrutiny. We have already laid the groundwork for other phases of our study. (See

p. 16 and ch. IV.)

On a State level, officials are becoming increasingly aware of the problems created by tax-exempt foundations and charitable trusts. Mr. W. A. Johnson, commissioner, North Carolina Department of Revenue, has written me as follows:

"The increasing tendency to attempt to use taxexempt foundations and charitable trusts to carry on many business activities heretofore conducted by private, taxpaying individuals and organizations is a matter of considerable concern to us. This trend narrows our overall tax base and, to the extent that the competition has an adverse effect on private, taxpaying businesses, reduces our revenue from such taxpayers. I very definitely feel that this area needs careful study and I am delighted that your committee is giving it serious consideration."

The following news story from the Dallas News of December 15, 1962, illustrates the problems in this area in the State of Texas.

WILSON URGES REIN ON CHARITY TRUSTS

By Dawson Duncan, Austin Bureau of The News

Austin, Tex.—Attorney General Will Wilson, ending six years as attorney general Jan. 1, Friday recommended strong new laws to regulate charitable trusts.

"This is an unbridled field for tax evasion and public trust violation," Wilson said in his final report to Gov. Price Daniel.

Wilson will close out his active direction of the attorney general's office Saturday and leave Sunday for a month's vacation in Europe.

Waggoner Carr, attorney general-elect, will take office January 1. Wilson reviewed that he created a new division in the summer of 1961 with two goals. One was to survey all known charitable trusts in Texas. The other was to use results of the survey as a basis for recommending legislation to assist the attorney general in supervising the trusts.

Wilson's staff located names of 1,629 known foundations and sent questionnaires, resulting in 233 groups failing to respond, finding 65 groups either were extinct or had no known mailing address and 427 were determined to be non-profit, and therefore not in the scope of the survey.

He said about 850 complete reports have been assembled and for 675 of them there had been tabulated $403,370,000 in assets in 1960, $73,357,000 income for the year and $55,344,000 charitable distributions made.

Assets were listed at acquisition value and thus were grossly undervalued, he noted.

Wilson said the survey, while incomplete, pointed out the need for legislation requiring registration by all charitable trusts with some state agency, probably the secretary of state.

"The flight of capital into charitable trusts and foundations is rapidly increasing," wrote Wilson in his report. "As of the present time, there is no registration of assets or liabilities and no accounting for the administration of trusts.

"This is a prolific field for conflict-of-interest situations and misconduct, and I feel that a great deal more basic supervision of actions of trustees is in the public interest.

supervision of actions of trustees is in the public interest.

"I would suggest that something resembling the supervision of insurance companies and banks be established on charitable trusts and foundations in order to serve as a check on the trustees and to make it more likely that trusts will be administered in the public interest."

Wilson cited several trusts which his staff had investigated and in which he had intervened to halt what he termed misconduct and conflict of interest. He did not identify the trusts, in order not to impair pending business transactions by the foundations.

One example he cited was a trust first investigated in 1961 for alleged misconduct and conflict of interest.

It involved a drilling company, life insurance companies, a large company not otherwise identified, a shopping center, a building and ranches, and the foundation board chairman.

At one time two life insurance companies were involved in loans amounting to 90 percent of their assets.

Filing of a suit was considered but abandoned because it might have caused their collapse, said Wilson, which would have had a disastrous effect on the Texas life insurance industry. Reforms in operations were accomplished through agreements, he reported, preventing the collapse of insurance companies licensed to do business in many states.

I believe our study will provide a base of information on foundations which can be used to formulate positive congressional action.

Sincerely yours,

WRIGHT PATMAN, Chairman, Select Committee on Small Business.

AN IMMEDIATE MORATORIUM ON FOUNDATION TAX EXEMPTION WOULD SERVE THE BEST INTERESTS OF THE NATION

This is the first section of an interim report on the Small Business Committee's study of "... the impact upon small business of the activities and conduct of tax-exempt foundations and charitable trusts . . . ."

Our study establishes the fact that there is a pressing need for an immediate moratorium on the granting of tax exemptions to foundations, for the following reasons:

1. Laxness and irresponsibility on the part of the Internal Revenue Service.

2. Violations of law and Treasury regulations by far too many of the foundations encompassed in our study.

3. The withdrawal of almost $7 billion from the reach of the tax collectors for taxable years 1951 through 1960. This amount represents the total receipts of only 534 out of an estimated 45,124 tax-exempt foundations.

4. The rapidly increasing concentration of economic power in foundations which—in my view—is far more dangerous than anything that has happened in the past in the way of concentration of economic power.

5. Foundation-controlled enterprises possess the money and competitive advantages to eliminate the small businessman.

But first, I should like to detail the background, purposes, and procedures of our study.

The rapid growth in the number and size of tax-exempt foundations has been readily apparent for some years. The Internal Revenue Service reports an increase in numbers from 12,295 at the close of 1952 to a total of 45,124 at the end of 1960—nearly a fourfold increase in 9 years. These figures may be incomplete. We do not know how many hundreds—or thousands—of foundations are in operation without the knowledge of the Treasury, but are nevertheless exempt from Federal income taxation and significant to our study.

This study is an immediate outgrowth of a special survey which I initiated as an individual Member in August 1961 when I directed an inquiry to over 500 foundations requesting certain information. Shortly before the end of the 1st session of the 87th Congress, the Small Business Committee agreed to make the study a committee function, and at the first meeting of the committee in 1962 an authorizing resolution was passed. (Full text of the committee resolution appears in the Congressional Record, Jan. 22, 1962, p. 520.)

EARLIER STUDIES AND EFFORTS

I am sure many of you recall that when the Revenue Act of 1950 was passed there were high hopes that it would prevent foundation abuses, such as those that took place in the 1940's. The Ways and Means Committee hearings of 1948-49 revealed that educational institutions and private charitable foundations had moved into commercial and industrial fields. Some had inherited substantial interests in business, as was the case with the Ford Foundation.

Others had purchased control of businesses. A tax-exempt cancer research organization, for example, had acquired a variety of industrial firms. Mr. Royal Little and the operations of his Textron trusts were given due attention. In fact, the record lists about 40 different types of businesses controlled by educational and charitable organiza-

President Truman's tax message to Congress on January 23, 1950, was highly critical of tax exemption for charitable foundations that are "used as a cloak for business ventures."

Many of you will also recall the courageous and successful fight waged in 1958 by Representative John E. Moss, of the Government Information Subcommittee, to open up exemption applications to the public. According to press reports, Mr. Moss asked Secretary of the Treasury Anderson to keep the subcommittee "informed, on a continuing basis, of the organizations which request that their applications for tax exemption be withheld from public inspection."

As far back as 1916, we were amply warned by the Walsh committee of the abuses which might well flow from the creation of these privileged, tax-exempt entities, and the record over the years has not been such as to put the minds of responsible people to rest.

THE NATURE OF THE INVESTIGATION REQUIRED

Any adequate study of the impact of tax-exempt foundations on our economy and on small business must include a study of their income, the sources of that income, and trends; it must include a record of the expenditures and the purposes for which they are made, including a record of stock manipulations and intercorporate dealings to assure the Congress and the public that the end is "charitable" and not mercenary; it must include a study of the assets of these organizations both as to size and kind, including the holding or acquisition of assets for other than charitable purposes, not excluding the temptation to use foundations for purposes of corporate control, securing special favors, endowing relatives, and contriving to utilize economic power of foundations to create unfair competitive conditions; it must include a study of the extent, if any, to which large corporations are using foundations to evade taxes, however legally, to the detriment of their smaller competitors; and, in the process of securing some or all of the answers to these questions, we have and will inevitably reveal the gaps in laws and regulations or the failure to enforce the laws or regulations which have caused or may cause damage to the economy and small business.

The study revolves around the possible exploitation of the people's respect and admiration for charitable acts and gifts. Are foundations being used as a cloak and a vehicle for crippling competition and accelerating concentration of economic power? Are foundations being used to facilitate the use of economic power, disguised as charity, to attain ends never intended by the people or the Congressends such as taking control of commercial enterprises?

PURPOSE OF THE STUDY AND PERIOD COVERED

The purpose of our study is to determine what the facts are, and to ascertain whether new regulations, or legislation, or better enforcement, are needed to protect small business and to serve the public interest.

The period covered begins with taxable year 1951 and ends with taxable year 1960—for which tax returns were filed in 1952 and 1961, respectively. However, all the foundations do not have a 10-year history, in which case the period covered will be shorter. Some foundations, even though they have a history of 10 years or longer, failed to furnish complete information for the full period.

We have attempted to accurately record all data for the period under study, as furnished to us by the foundations. We have not checked out the arithmetic on the documents submitted by those organizations.

There is no thought of partisanship.

PROCEDURES

We have secured information from 534 tax-exempt foundations. Our inquiries were sent to a cross section of such organizations. They are not the 534 largest foundations. A number of smaller ones were selected for sampling purposes. Indeed, there is no way of telling which are the 534 largest foundations in the country without examining the annual tax reports of all of them.

We went directly to the foundations because that was the only way to secure information adequate for our purposes. The information available in the files of the Internal Revenue Service was inadequate.

So we directed our inquiries to the recipients of this tax-exemption privilege. We asked the foundations for copies of exemption applications, Internal Revenue Service letters granting exemption, tax returns (Form 990-A or Form 1041-A, if applicable), accountant's financial statements, investment portfolios, information on directors, trustees, and officers, as well as other financial and legal information for the years 1951 through 1960. After several months, we have most of the material on 534 organizations for this 10-year period, or some portion thereof, if the foundation was created after 1951.

The income report, which I am submitting as Schedule 1, contains a listing of the 534 foundations under study and their income wherever available.

All reports were compiled from documents gathered from those organizations. The material was gathered, recorded, and evaluated under the direction of Mr. H. A. Olsher, our able and tireless director of the Small Business Committee's foundation study. The data was recorded by professional men—attorneys and accountants—and was tabulated by the General Accounting Office.

Additionally, I wish to express my thanks to Mr. J. S. Seidman, of New York City. At my invitation, Mr. Seidman, a senior partner of the certified public accounting firm of Seidman & Seidman, permitted us to consult with him on technical tax matters, and gave freely and promptly of his time and advice. Mr. Seidman is past president of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and former chairman of that organization's committee on Federal taxation.

RELUCTANT FOUNDATIONS

Obtaining the information from the foundations has been a struggle. In many cases, it has taken four or five letters and a reminder of the committee's subpena power to obtain the information needed for this study. Many foundations have taken from 30 to 60 days to reply to a letter. We have been compelled to issue subpenas to 17 of them who failed to furnish information requested. (A list of the 17 appears on pp. 18-19.) These 17 foundations had been given ample opportunity to furnish the information voluntarily—in many instances, several months. In the case of the five members of the Ford family of Detroit, the Pew Memorial Trust of Philadelphia, and the Allen-Bradley Foundation of Milwaukee, the committee first asked for the information in October 1961. When followup letters did not produce the documents and data, we issued subpenas in February and March of 1962.

The attitudes of far too many of the foundations under study suggest an unmatched arrogance and contempt for the Congress and the people whom we represent. They appear to have adopted the attitude that tax exemption is their birthright—rather than a privilege granted to them by the people, through the Congress, for a public purpose.

The reluctance to cooperate takes many forms. Some only furnished information under subpena, demonstrating something less than a charitable attitude toward public knowledge and democratic processes. Others have sent us incomplete, or partially or wholly illegible, documents. Frequently, principal officers seemed to be in Europe when our letters arrived, leaving no one in the office with access to the records.

A MORATORIUM IS NEEDED

Our committee has produced the first penetrating, meaningful insight into the income of a substantial number of tax-exempt foundations—534 out of an estimated 45,124. Many of you will recall that the Reece committee found it impossible to arrive at any accurate estimate of the number of foundations, their income, expenditures, and assets. Foundations give wide publicity to their disbursements—contributions, gifts, grants, etc.—but they seem reluctant to advertise their income.

On the basis of our discoveries thus far, and in view of the rapidly increasing number of tax-exempt foundations, I strongly urge the Secretary of the Treasury to declare an immediate moratorium on granting exemptions to foundations and charitable trusts until such time as the Congress has an opportunity to consider and develop new law and procedures to fit present day economic circumstances and needs.

This recommendation is not made lightly. It is not made casually. It is made in the interest of the taxpaying public and in the interest of good administration and orderly procedures. It is also made in the interests of equal justice.

How can the Treasury Department possibly justify continuing to wring heavy taxes out of the farmer, the worker, and the small businessman, knowing that people of large means are building one foundation after another, and—for all the Treasury knows—for the purpose of decreasing their taxes, eliminating competition and small business, subsidizing antidemocratic propaganda, and otherwise working a hardship on the Nation. This "mess"—and it is a mess—cannot be cleaned up overnight, and many of the people who are now faced with the cleaning job are by no means responsible for this sorry state of affairs but, in the interim, good faith requires that we put an end to the spiraling number of these tax-free entities until we can bring some degree of order into these matters and assure the people that their taxes are not higher because of special privileges flowing from inadequate laws, inadequate regulations, and lax administration.

REASONS FOR THE RECOMMENDED MORATORIUM

Let me outline five of the many justifications for an immediate moratorium on the granting of exemptions:

First, there is every indication that there have been laxness and irresponsibility in the supervision of foundations by the Internal Revenue Service. There is little doubt that the tremendous increase in the number and size of foundations has outrun the machinery for control. Moreover, a moratorium would give the Treasury Department an opportunity to tighten its exemption requirements, its supervisory procedure and control, and step up its disciplinary actions for violations of its regulations.

The scarcity of information on foundations and the lack of supervision has made it impossible for the Treasury to determine the extent of loss to the Federal Treasury on foundation operations. Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin has advised me that he recognizes that his Department's "audit activity in the area of exempt organizations was inadequate in the past." Out of a total of 570,000 exempt organization tax returns of all types filed during the period of January 1, 1958, through June 30, 1960, 13,024 were classified for audit, of which only 5,300 were actually audited. Those 5,300 audits resulted "in recommended additional taxes and penalties of $2.7 million and 203 instances in which the exempt status has been recommended for revocation."

The lack of statistics is appalling: approximately 111,000 out of the total of 570,000 returns were filed on Form 990-A during the 2½-year period. The balance were filed on other exempt organization return Forms 990, 990-C, 990-P, 990-T, and 1041-A. The Internal Revenue Service has no separate figures showing the number of Form 990-A returns which were classified for audit during that period; nor can it supply figures on how many of this group were actually audited.

The dearth of data without which neither the public, nor the Congress, nor the executive branch can properly evaluate the impact of the rapidly growing foundation industry is due, in part, to the deficiencies in administrative forms and procedures.

The law requires tax-exempt foundations to make a report of their operations on a tax return known as Form 990-A. This return is composed of four pages. It gives information concerning receipts, disbursements, and balance sheets. But Form 990-A omits vitally important facts. No report is required as to the date of contributions received or as to the type of contributions received—that is, whether it is cash, securities, real estate, etc. No information is required as to selling dates of assets. Notes receivable and accounts receivable are not separated. Mortgage holdings—a big foundation business—are not treated separately. Although a foundation is required to report 10 percent or more stock ownership, it is not required to report the date or manner of acquisition of the stock. No detail is required as to accounts payable, such as the nature of the accounts payable, name of the creditor, Little detail is required as to the character of the items making up miscellaneous expenses. No description of the foundation's business activities is required. Names of the officers, directors, or trustees are not required.

Certainly, the stockholders of any business corporation would wish to have such information. And, in the case of tax-exempt foundations, the taxpayers are the stockholders since they provide the subsidy.

My second justification for urging a moratorium is that there appears to have been widespread disregard of Treasury regulations, despite penalties provided by law, including fines up to $10,000 and jail terms. Uneducated sharecroppers are presumed to know the law, but many of the foundations under study and their well-paid, well-educated advisers are apparently exempt from this ancient presumption, in practice, if not as a matter of strict law. Singling out the shortcomings of each individual foundation would fill countless pages so I shall only recite a few:

- 1. The Treasury Department requires every foundation to file the following information if it owns 10 percent or more of any class of stock of any corporation at the beginning or close of each reporting period: (1) Name of the corporation; (2) number of shares of each type of stock owned, including identification as to voting or nonvoting; and (3) the value of the stock as recorded on the foundation's books. We have already found 72 foundations, owning 10 percent or more of at least 1 class of stock in 1 or more of 180 different corporations during the years 1951 through 1960, who failed to report such information to the Internal Revenue Service for at least 1 year. The foundations that failed to file such data are listed in Schedule 2.
- 2. The Longwood Foundation of Wilmington, Del., had total receipts of $32,952,885 for the years 1951 through 1960. This foundation failed to file its Form 990-A tax returns for the years 1955 through 1958. Mr. Henry B. du Pont, President of the foundation, says that the failure to file was brought to light by my inquiry of last August, and that the tax returns for the 4 years were not filed until September 7-8, 1961.
- 3. The Parsons-Blewett Memorial Fund, of St. Louis, had total receipts of $1,600,314 for the years 1951 through 1961. It admits that no requests had been received for submission of tax returns prior to 1961, and "consequently none were filed," despite the fact that the organization has been operating on an exempt basis for many years. In fact, this fund did not file an exemption application until October 1959, although it was organized in 1916.

4. The Rutherford B. Hayes and Lucy W. Hayes Foundation, of Spiegel Grove, Ohio, had total receipts of $336,445 for the years 1951 through 1960. Although it has been operating on a tax-exempt basis since 1926, it did not file an application for tax exemption until June 10, 1960, and filed its first Form 990-A in 1961—just about 35 years after it started operations.

5. The Isaac W. Bernheim Foundation of Louisville had total receipts of $1,205,108 for the years 1955 through 1960. It failed to file Form 990-A for all years prior to 1955, despite the fact that it has been exempt since 1930. This foundation also contends that no one had ever advised it that Form 990-A "was required." Mr. Robert Paul, Executive Director of the foundation, says: "I remember making inquiries at the Federal Building, Department of Revenue, Louisville, Ky., and it was only after considerable difficulty I could find someone who could tell me in what manner this form should be made out to meet our particular situation, combining the two entities: I. W. Bernheim Trust and I. W. Bernheim Foundation."

6. The Howard Heinz Endowment of Pittsburgh had total receipts of $6,174,717 for the years 1951 through 1960. No tax return was filed for the year

1955, and no reason given.

7. The Inland Steel-Ryerson Foundation of Chicago had total receipts of $10,189,864 for the years 1951 through 1960. It is among a number of foundations that failed to file Form 990-A for at least 1 year. For the years 1958 through 1960, it filed Form 990 which is closed to public inspection.

8. The Zachary Smith Reynolds Trust of Winston-Salem, N.C., had total receipts of $8,067,757 for the years 1951 through 1960. It has not filed a proper information return since it was established in 1936. It has filed a Form 1041 instead of a Form 990-A, the former being closed to public inspection. The Mercantile-Safe Deposit & Trust Co. of Baltimore, the trustee, says that the Internal Revenue Service has never requested that it file a Form 990-A for the Zachary Smith Reynolds Trust.

9. Many of the foundations we have examined omit important information required by the Treasury Department. Little or no attention is paid to filing the portions of the tax return which must be made available to the public. This is particularly true of information relating to disbursements such as contributions, gifts, grants, etc.

The Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. Charitable Trust, of East Alton, Ill., had total receipts of $9,-615,630 for the years 1951 through 1960. It says that schedules itemizing capital gains (or losses) were not filed for any year from 1951 through 1957, despite the fact that it had gains or losses in each year.

The Donner Foundation of Philadelphia-whose financial statements are prepared by Price Waterhouse & Co.—had total receipts of $24,760,043, including capital gains of $12,947,827, for the years 1951 through 1960. This foundation did not file a capital gain schedule showing details of assets sold for any of those years.

The Monarch Machine Tool Co. Foundation, of Sidney, Ohio, had total receipts of $153,333 for the years 1953 through 1960. It also failed to file capital gain schedules for 1955 and 1957; nor did it file schedules for miscellaneous expenses during the years 1954 and 1959.

Any member of this body will recognize that infractions such as these by ordinary citizens would have the Internal Revenue Service pursuing them in force.

The third justification for urging a moratorium relates to that provision of the Revenue Act of 1950 which prohibits "unreasonable" accumulations of income by foundations. The group of foundations we examined had accumulated income of $906,136,256 at the close of the last accounting period for which they submitted data to the committee (usually 1960), as against $271,615,733 at the close of the first accounting period (usually 1951) for which they provided information. The reasons for this huge increase in accumulated income will require further study. One of the problems is the failure of many foundations to report any information regarding their accumulated income. For example, the Lillia Babbitt Hyde Foundation of New York City had aggregate total receipts of $10,295,632, including capital gains, contributions, gifts, grants, etc., for the years 1951 through 1960. Its accumulation of income at the end of 1960 was $4,405,-762. The foundation's tax returns for the years 1951 through 1958 offer no explanation of its accumulated income; its returns of 1959 and 1960 hint that capital gains are included in accumulations of income during the earlier years.

The fourth justification for urging a moratorium is that tax exemption for foundations needs reassessment in the light of the present times. There is every indication that many tax-exempt charitable foundations are being used for purposes not related to charity. The laws of the past are no longer effective. Congress could not envision the gigantic proportions that the foundation business would reach. During the last accounting period (usually 1960) for which the foundations submitted data to the committee, they had total receipts of $1,034,710,518, as against total receipts of $554,740,568 during the first accounting period (usually 1951).

In 1960, there were 7,213,000 families, including unattached individuals, in the United States who had income of less than $2,000 before taxes. Their aggregate income was $8,040 million. Thus, the $1,034,710,518 received by the 534 tax-exempt foundations in 1960 was almost 13 percent of the income of 7,213,000 American families. In other words, the aggregate receipts of these 534 foundations were equal to that of 928,000 American families in Moreover, the $1,034,710,518 received by the 534 taxexempt foundations in 1960 was substantially more—in fact, almost 20 percent more—than the $864,435,000 combined net operating earnings, after taxes, of the 50 largest banks in the United States.

The following is a breakdown of the receipts of the 534 foundations from whom we gathered data for the taxable years 1951 through 1960:

Gross sales or receipts from business activities  Gross profit from business activities <sup>1</sup> Interest received  Dividends received  Rents and royalties received  Total gain from sale of assets  Other income	478, 893, 332 2, 161, 886, 913 270, 601, 207 1, 477, 272, 841
Total gross income, excluding contributions,	4 676 906 660

6, 981, 188, 769 grants, etc., received.\_\_\_\_  $^{\rm 1}\,\mathrm{Some}$  foundations failed to show gross sales less cost of sales or of operations.

What is the significance of the huge amounts accruing in the form of capital gains? The $1,477,272,841 income figure from capital gains suggests that many foundations have become a vehicle for trading in securities and dodging the capital gain tax. Foundation capital gains are not only tax exempt, but the foundations are permitted to place them in the principal account instead of the income

Note the following capital gains of the Lillia Babbitt Hyde Foundation of New York City from activity in the stock market:

As indicated above, proceeds were not shown on the Hyde Foundation's tax returns for 1951 and 1952. Moreover, its returns for the years 1956 and 1960 do not show acquisition dates, although Treasury regulations require such information. Additionally, Treasury regulations require a description of the manner in which the securities were acquired by the foundation-by gift or purchase, etc. This foundation did not file any such information for the years 1951 through 1960. It did, however, furnish both dates of acquisition and dates of sale of securities for the years 1953, 1957, 1958, and 1959. Examination of these returns indicates that there was speculation in securitieswith stocks and bonds being bought and sold during the same year and sometimes within a matter of a few days.

This type of activity by foundations—with huge, untaxed funds at their disposal—poses some big questions in the light of the recent sharp breaks in the market. In my view, tax-exempt foundations-all of whom are supported by the taxpayers—should not be permitted to use public funds for speculation in the stock market. Their mistakes or misfortunes are too likely to have a disastrous effect on millions of our citizens.

The fifth justification for urging a moratorium is the need for achieving a more equitable distribution of the tax burden—one of the most pressing problems facing the Congress. In fairness to all taxpayers, the Congress should explore the foundation business as a possible new source of revenue.

Today funds are being put into foundations which yield no taxable income. Since the money lost to the public's Treasury must be found somewhere, the burden is shifted to people who are obliged to work for a living—to the widow with a cottage instead of a palace, to businessmen, and to the farmer.

In my view, it is extremely unfair for the taxpayers of the First District of Texas and the rest of the country to be compelled to pay for the maintenance of tax-exempt foundations. They mainly lighten the burden of wealthy people who do not require government subsidy. This is not backed by justice, equity, or sound American prin-

These five points are merely a summary statement of the justifications for urging an immediate moratorium on the creation of any more of these tax-exempt foundations until the Congress has taken appropriate action—but let me proceed with the report in more detail on the difficulties we have encountered, the evidences of the need for changes in the law, in the regulations, and in the administration of these organizations.

PROBLEMS RESULTING FROM THE SHORTCOMINGS OF FOUNDATIONS IN ACCOUNTING

Now I should like to tell you a little about the committee's problems resulting from the shortcomings of the foundations in their accounting.

The accounting data furnished by far too many of the foundations is defective in many ways. This has posed problems in the preparation of our report.

The lack of uniformity in accounting procedures, and the accounting practices generally in the foundation industry, should be a matter of concern to the certified public accountant profession.

There are far too many departures from recognized bookkeeping procedures. Some annual reports, for instance, identify the source of certain income as "various transactions."

The list of defects includes the following:

1. The biggest problem encountered has been the illegible copies of Form 990-A furnished by certain foundations. Some copies, though adequately reproduced, are prepared with such poor penmanship that they are still unreadable. This required computation of numerous items manually.

2. Far too many foundations failed to furnish annual reports-financial statements. Many of those that were submitted leave much to be desired. They are among the poorest I have ever seen. They generally say nothing about officers, directors, or trustees. Oddly enough, a few individuals, whose names have been submitted to us as directors, subsequently denied such affiliations.

Many of the statements offer little detail about contributions received, and, when they show their portfolios, they frequently list only the security, the number of shares, and the foundation's carrying values. Others simply list the securities and the number of Market values are omitted more often than not. Some include little more than a brief income statement and balance sheet. The 1960 accountant's statement of the Richardson Foundation, of New York City and Greensboro, N.C., prepared by Price Waterhouse & Co., shows no list of securities, although the foundation held securities values at about $50 million.

Still other foundations failed to show schedules of capital gains.

The 1960 statement of the Buhl Foundation, of Pittsburgh, prepared by Price Waterhouse & Co., failed to show individual securities held. Also, this foundation deleted certain portions of its auditor's statement for the year ending June 30, 1956. The foundation's reasons for its failure to submit the entire statement to us were as follows:

"In the year ended June 30, 1956, the auditors submitted as a supplement to their audit report certain detailed statistical and financial information which they had extracted from the records of the foundation at our request. This material was not a part of the audit report. These attachments, therefore, were not included for that reason and also for the reason that substan-stantially all of the information contained therein was submitted to you for that particular year in other documents."

The following foundations were among those submitting statements that did not show individual securities held for the year 1960:

B. F. Goodrich Fund, Inc., of Akron, statement prepared by Ernst & Ernst.

The Presser Foundation of Philadelphia and the Fund for the Republic, of Santa Barbara, Calif., statements prepared by Lybrand, Ross Bros. & Montgomery.

And the following foundations were among those that showed investment portfolios but failed to list market values of individual securities held at the close of the year 1960:

William Volker Fund, of Burlingame, Calif., statement prepared by Arthur Young & Co.

John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation, of New York City, statement prepared by Haskins & Sells.

3. Many of the foundations under study did not bother to use the official Form 990-A. They adopted their own Form and attached a schedule with their own breakdowns without regard for even the order of arrangement on Form 990-A. This has made our task of compilation very difficult.

In this regard, the banks and trust companies are the worst offenders. Many prepared their own schedules, which were used in lieu of Form 990-A, on a day-to-day "journal" basis—so much received and so much disbursed without regard to classification. Under this system of reporting, the variance is so great that little can be gleaned from the information furnished. A case in point is the First Trust Co. of St. Paul, fiscal agent for the Tozer Foundation, of Stillwater, Minn., whose total receipts were $1,243,116 for the 10-year period. Our staff spent many manhours trying to make the contents of the bank's annual reports conform with the information required in Form 990-A. We found it to be an impossible task and therefore required the trust company to fill out the income and balance sheets (pp. 1 and 2) of Form 990-A for the period of 1951 through 1960. About 3 weeks after our request was made, the trust company advised us that they had been working on these returns for some time and found that the breaking down of their own accounting statements was "taking a somewhat longer time" than they expected.

Subsequently, when we queried the First Trust Co. of St. Paul as to why they had omitted detailed capital gains schedules which are required by Treasury regulations, the trust company advised us that "the Internal Revenue Service has been satisfied with copies of our fiscal year accounts. . . ."

4. In some cases outdated forms 990-A, in use prior to 1956, were used by the foundations in subsequent

5. Certain foundations filed their information on Form 990 instead of Form 990-A, despite the fact that the latter is required by law. Form 990 is not open to public inspection.

- 6. Few of the foundations filed all the information on Form 990-A in the manner prescribed by Treasury regulations. Many did not file classifications of the disbursements they made in the form of contributions, gifts, etc. Such information is open to public inspection.
- 7. In some instances, current income was not separated from principal.
- 8. At times, figures were entered in the wrong line. 9. Sometimes, supporting schedules were not attached. In other cases, they were attached but did not always jibe with the parent return.

10. In certain instances, photocopies failed to differentiate between red ink and black ink. This required computation of numerous items.

11. Some totals were omitted or incorrectly stated and required time-consuming calculation by us.

12. In some cases, identical items were inserted under different headings each year.

a fiscal year ending April 30.

13. Another problem was that certain foundations use a calendar year for the tax return and a fiscal year financial statement. For example, the Benwood Foundation, of Chattanooga, filed its tax return for 1960 on a calendar year basis, but its financial statement was prepared by Arthur Andersen & Co. using

14. There is a lack of uniformity in the accounting periods—some report on a fiscal year basis, others on a calendar year.

15. Certain foundations switch from one accounting year end to another.

16. Information furnished on the tax returns does not always agree with the data in the foundation's financial statements.

17. Other foundations reported capital gains on their tax returns as contributions received instead of as income earned. And, in some instances, the gain was not reported on the return either as income earned or as a contribution because, according to the foundation, all the proceeds were reinvested.

For example—for the period of 1951 through 1960—the Elisabeth Severance Prentiss Foundation, of Cleveland, shows a loss of $93 on lines 7, page 1, of its tax returns. Yet the schedules attached to the returns for the 10 years show net capital gains of $1,863,445. The foundation carried its gains or losses directly to the net worth section during each year.

In our computations, we have classified all capital gains—that is, all we could locate—as income earned.

- 18. At times, detailed statements with respect to assets sold were not filed. Treasury regulations require that the following information be filed on Form 990-A respecting assets sold: (a) Date and manner of acquisition, (b) gross sales price, and (c) cost or other basis (value at time of acquisition, if donated). However, many of the foundations under study failed to furnish all of this information on their tax re-
- 19. With respect to contributions received, instruction 3, page 4, of Form 990-A, requires that, where a foundation receives money or property from a donor in the amount of $100 or more, it must attach an itemized schedule showing the amount received and the name and address of the donor. When such information was furnished, many foundations showed only the amount received and the name of the donor; the address was omitted.
- 20. Incomplete data was sometimes submitted respecting accumulation of income.
- 21. Sometimes items of an unusual nature were not explained or clarified.
- 22. Most of the foundations maintain their financial records on the basis of the historic cost or value of securities as of date of receipt.
- 23. In other instances, balance sheets on the Form 990-A frequently do not reconcile the ending figures for 1 year and the opening figures for the following year. In some cases, the riders bearing balance sheet information do not agree with the balance sheet entries on the farm. In still other cases, the balance sheets do not agree with the accountant's annual financial statement.
- 24. In a number of cases, investments were not segregated in the manner required on the form—that is, investments were grouped under captions that did not correspond to the form. Some foundations failed to separate their assets of U.S. obligations from assets of non-U.S. obligations.
- 25. In certain cases, capital assets were shown as net without indicating the cost and the amount of reserve for depreciation, and in some cases, land and depreciable assets were lumped together. Also, breakdowns in the net worth section of Form 990-A were sometimes omitted.

26. Some foundations appraise valuable assets at nominal amounts, bearing no relationship to financial reality.

27. In some cases, stock is valued on the basis of the foundation's equity in the net assets of the corporation, whose accounting year end may differ from the foundation's by months or as much as a year.

28. Where a foundation reported ownership of 10 percent or more stock of a corporation—beginning with the year 1956—such ownership was usually shown as of the beginning or as of the end of the year, whereas the regulations require both beginning and end of the year figures unless there was no change in such holdings.

OTHER TYPES OF ABUSES

Now, I should like to deal with some other types of abuses.

One example of practices that require close examination involves the establishment, during 1961, of so-called charitable foundations by two of the Nation's largest banks: Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York and Chemical Bank New York Trust Co. The details are as follows:

On August 31, 1961, four of the Nation's largest banks sold control (60 percent) of the Discount Corp. of New York, a primary dealer in U.S. Government securities, bankers acceptances, and negotiable time certificates of deposit. The banks disposed of their stock by private placement to institutional investors, including a number of foundations. The number of shares owned and sold by each selling stockholder was as follows:

International Banking Corp. (a wholly owned subsidiary of the First National City Bank of New York)	9, 998
Bankers Trust Co	4, 9 99
Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York	•
Charitable Trust	9, 739
The Chemical Bank New York Trust Founda-	- tion	4,998
Total	29, 734

The 9,739 shares owned by the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. Charitable Trust and the 4,998 shares owned by the Chemical Bank of New York Trust Foundation had been acquired by the present Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York and the present Chemical Bank of New York Trust Co., respectively—through mergers and acquisitions—during the years 1918 through 1959.

The Morgan Guaranty Trust Co.'s cost basis for the 9,739 shares was $1,548,179.12. On January 4, 1961, the market value of the 9,739 shares was $2,493,184, so, on that date, the bank had a gain of $945,005. Whereupon, on the same date, January 4, 1961, the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York established the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York Charitable Trust and contributed the 9,739 shares of Discount Corp. to said trust. Those shares were the Charitable Trust's sole assets on January 4, 1961. Eight months later, on August 31, 1961, the Charitable Trust sold the 9,739 shares to institutional investors, including a number of foundations. The net proceeds to the Charitable Trust was $2,515,735.47. On March 12, 1962, the Charitable Trust filed its application for Federal income tax exemption. Since an organization must be in existence for at least 12 months before applying for Federal tax exemption, the Charitable Trust did not become eligible for exemption until January 4, 1962. The Charitable Trust was granted Federal tax exemption on July 12, 1962, and such exemption was retroactive.

The Chemical Bank New York Trust Co.'s adjusted cost basis for its 4,998 shares of Discount Corp. was $299,-880. On August 11, 1961, the market value of the 4,998 shares was $1,386,945. As of August 11, 1961, the bank had a gain of $1,087,065. Whereupon, on the same date, August 11, 1961, the Chemical Bank established the Chemical Bank New York Trust Foundation and contributed its 4,998 shares of Discount Corp. to said foundation. Those shares were the foundation's sole assets on August 11, 1961. On August 31, 1961, the foundation sold the 4,998 shares to the same institutional investors who had purchased the Morgan Guaranty's shares of Discount Corp. The net price received by the Chemical Bank New York Trust Foundation was $1,291,061.31. The foundation filed an application for exemption in November 1962. If the foundation is granted Federal tax exemption, such exemption will also be retroactive.

Thus, if the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. and the Chemical Bank had sold the aforementioned securities on January 4, 1961, and August 11, 1961, instead of contributing them to their respective foundations, the two banks would have had to pay capital gain tax on gains of over $2 million.

The Chase Manhattan Bank has engaged in similar transactions. On November 14, 1958, the bank established a trust known as the Chase Manhattan Bank Foundation. Seven months later, on May 6, 1959, the bank contributed the following securities to its foundation:

2,000 shares Philip Morris, Inc., common $5 par (acquired by the bank on January 10, 1955, upon liquidation of a former subsidiary).

5,000 shares Imperial Bank of Canada capital stock (acquired by the bank in 1930). 5,000 rights Imperial Bank of Canada.

The bank's cost basis on these securities was $116,292. The market value on May 5, 1959, the last date of the bank's ownership, was $542,631. As of May 5, 1959 the bank's gain on the securities was $426,339. On May 13, 14, and 18, 1959, and June 5, 1959, shortly after the bank contributed the stock to its foundation, the latter sold the stock for a total of $542,817.

Seven months later, in January 1960, the Chase Manhattan Bank Foundation filed an application for Federal income tax exemption. A few months thereafter, on April 12, 1960, the Internal Revenue Service granted the exemption, and such exemption was retroactive.

On March 31, 1960, the Chase Bank had contributed another 6,776 shares of Philip Morris common $5 par stock to its foundation. These shares had also been acquired by the bank on January 10, 1955. The bank's cost basis was $32,125. The market value on March 30, 1960, the last date of the bank's ownership, was $417,571. As of March 30, 1960, the bank had a gain on this stock of $385,446. On April 11, 1960, 1 day prior to the date of the Internal Revenue Service letter granting exemption, the Chase Bank Foundation sold the stock for a total of $403,257.

Then, on May 2, 1961, the Chase Bank contributed 207,753 shares of H & B American Machine Co., Inc., capital stock which it had acquired on May 2, 1954, as a workout of a bad loan. The bank's cost basis was $348,440. The market value on May 1, 1960, the last date of the bank's ownership, was $947,873. As of May 1, 1961, the bank had a gain on this stock of $599,433. On May 9 and May 10, 1961, a week after the bank contributed the stock to the foundation, the latter sold the stock for a total of $805,758.

Hence, if the Chase Manhattan Bank had sold the aforementioned securities on May 5, 1959, March 30, 1960, and

May 1, 1961, instead of contributing them to its foundation, the bank would have had to pay capital gain tax on gains of about $1,400,000.

The net result of this legalized tax dodging is that the public's treasury suffers and the bill must be picked up by the taxpayers, including small businessmen.

FOUNDATIONS AS AGENTS OF CONCENTRATION

In the past two decades numerous business organizations have become affiliated with or merged into so-called charitable foundations. As we all know, true charity has always been most favored in this great land of ours, and has been fostered by tax exemptions freely granted by our National, State, and local governments. However, when business organizations operate in the guise or cloak of charity primarily to evade taxes and to gain advantages over other business enterprises, it is time to carefully examine this field. Each tax exemption naturally increases the tax burden of the remainder of our citizens and busi-If the burden of small business becomes too great, small businesses will fail and disappear, and our economy and system must likewise fail.

To date, our records disclose 111 foundations that owned 10 percent or more of at least 1 class of stock in 1 or more of 263 different corporations on December 31, 1960. They are shown on Schedules 2 and 3. The companies are in a wide variety of industries: Rock and gravel, lime and cement, aluminum, textiles, railroads, broadcasting, real estate, retailing, including chainstores and department stores, soft drinks, railway equipment, chemicals, paper and paper products, stoves, oil and minerals, drugs, baking, cereals and other breakfast foods, sugar, banks, theaters, utilities, film and TV production, dies, arms, explosives, chemical research, ammunition, insurance, perfumes and cosmetics, shoes, refrigerators, construction, glass, tavern leasing, parking lots, heavy machinery, brewing, lead, coal, meatpacking, dress manufacturing, drugstores, hotels and motels, shopping centers, building materials and lumber, newspaper and other publishing, trucking and parcel delivery, wholesale plumbing and heating services, gasoline engines, compressors, refrigeration systems, manufacturing furriers, fiber cord, wooden barrels, and vulcanized fiber, among others.

The stock ownership of certain foundations under study ranges from 10 to 100 percent and includes the following well-known companies—among others—which are listed in Schedules 2 and 3. It should be remembered that where a foundation does not own 51 percent of a corporation's common voting stock, control may be exercised through a combination of the foundation's holdings and the holdings of the "owner." Also, nonvoting stock may sometimes be converted into voting shares. For example, the class A nonvoting stock of the Ford Motor Co., which is held by the Ford Foundation, can be converted or exchanged on a share for share basis under certain conditions into the company's common voting stock with the same dividend rate.

Kaiser Industries Corp. (15.4 percent of the common nonvoting stock owned by the Henry J. Kaiser Family Foundation, Oakland, Calif.). Calloway Mills Co. (100 percent of the capital common voting stock owned by the Callaway Community Foundation, LaGrange, Ga.).

Coca-Cola International (15.21 percent of the common voting stock owned by Emily & Ernest Woodruff Foundation, Atlanta).

George D. Roper Corp. (11.77 percent of the common voting stock owned by Sears Roebuck Foundation, Chicago).

Midwest Oil Corp. (18.34 percent of the common voting stock owned by Standard Oil Foundation, Inc., Chicago).

Eli Lilly & Co. (45.26 percent of the common class A voting stock, and 10.40 percent of the class B common nonvoting stock owned by Lilly Endowment, Inc., Indianapolis).

Kellogg Co. (58 percent of the preferred nonvoting stock owned by W. K. Kellogg Foundation, and 51 percent of the common voting stock owned by W. Kellogg Foundation Trust, Battle Creek, Mich.).

S. S. Kresge Co. (34 percent of the capital voting stock owned by Kresge Foundation, Detroit).

United States Sugar Corp. (48.2 percent of the common stock owned by Charles Stewart Mott Foundation, Flint, Mich.).

B. Altman & Co. (New York) (84.59 percent of the capital voting stock owned by Altman Foundation, New York).

Connecticut Railway & Lighting Co. (99.25 percent of the 5 percent cumulative preferred voting stock, and 51.07 percent of the common voting stock owned by Charles Ulrick & Josephine Bay Foundation, Inc., New York). Duke Power Co. (57.24 percent of the common voting stock, and 82.02 percent of the 7 percent preferred voting stock owned by Duke Endowment, New

Ford Motor Co. (100 percent of the class A nonvoting stock owned by the Ford Foundation, New  $\mathbf{Y}$ ork)

W. T. Grant Co. (10.7 percent of the common voting stock owned by the Grant Foundation, Inc., New York).

Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., Inc. (33.98 percent of the common voting stock owned by John A. Hartford Foundation, Inc., New York).

S. H. Kress & Co. (41.9 percent of the common voting stock owned by Samuel H. Kress Foundation, New York)

UNFAIR COMPETITIVE ADVANTAGES

Over the past year, my mail has brought renewed criticism of the commercial activities of tax-exempt founda-The American Council of Independent Laboratories, composed of about 150 independent, taxpaying research and testing laboratories, states that their competitors—tax-exempt research institutes—operate multimillion-dollar commercial businesses at a profit, and that they have grown tremendously at the expense of the taxpayer. It is alleged that seven of these tax-exempt organizations did over $100 million in research and testing business dur-

Mr. Raymond W. Hermanson, of Los Angeles, writes that his company has been operating under extremely difficult competition with the Research-Cottrell Co., a wholly owned subsidiary of the tax-exempt Research Corp. of New York City. Mr. Hermanson says: "The Research-Cottrell Co. is able, in many instances, to bid for business at a break-even or loss figure which its competitors cannot possibly match. Because of the ability of Research-Cottrell to price their equipment at or below cost, competition has been effectively forced into the position of operating at a loss. This is true of almost every company now engaged in this business."

Mrs. Ethel M. Clark, president, California Test Bureau, of Monterey, writes as follows:

"As President of one of the oldest nationwide educational test publishers in the country, I feel compelled to advise you of an increasing problem this company is encountering and to solicit your aid in solving this problem.

"In recent years there has been great growth in the number of publicly and privately supported taxexempt organizations who have entered into direct competition with those who still survive as taxpaying members of our industry. The development and growth of a considerable number of organizations who create and publish educational materials for solicitation of and sale to the public and parochial schools of this country is increasing. . . . These organizations this country is increasing. . . . These organizations . . . frequently operate in direct competition with taxpaying publishers of educational books and tests. "An example of such direct competition with this company is Educational Testing Service, of Princeton, N.J., which functions as a nonprofit organization. Educational Testing Service operates a division called Cooperative Test Service which engages in what we consider commercial activity by active solicitation of business by use of catalogs, advertising circulars, sales representatives who contact public and parochial school systems, and the like. Their curparochial school systems, and the like. rent annual report shows gross revenues in excess of $10 million from sales.

"In recent years Educational Testing Service reports gross sales or receipts from business activities (educational test activities) as follows:

1960-61	$ 10, 662, 324
1959-60	8, 380, 388
1958-59	6, 932, 803
1957-58	5, 974, 127

"It is my opinion that the enigma of the 'nonprofit' or 'tax-exempt' label, and its attendant cloak of public purpose is being violated as to original purpose and intent by these organizations which are in reality 'for-profit' yet at the same time, tax exempt. problem poses a serious threat to this country's free enterprise system which provides tax support for our government.

"An additional serious problem presented by the Educational Testing Service operation, is that their 'nonprofit' status enables them to solicit funds from tax-exempt foundations and contributions by corporations and individuals and at the same time compete with taxpaying publishers."

The taxpaying California Test Bureau had 106 employees at the end of its fiscal year 1961. Its gross income was $2,223,602 for fiscal year ending June 30, 1961, compared with $2,386,318 during 1960.

The tax-exempt Educational Testing Service of Princeton had 630 salaried employees at June 30, 1961, as against 535 employees at July 1, 1960. In addition, it employed as many as 473 hourly paid temporary workers during peak periods of fiscal year 1961.

Occasionally a foundation is found by the Internal Revenue Service to be engaging in an "unrelated busi-This is not prohibited under the law, but the income from "unrelated business" is taxable.

On May 2, 1962, for example, the Internal Revenue Service held that the Educational Testing Service, of Princeton, N.J., a tax-exempt foundation since 1949, has been carrying on an unrelated business-selling tests and testing services to business, professional, and other noneducational customers. The income from these sales will be subject to tax from now on.

But the tax-exempt Honeywell Foundation, of Wabash, Ind., is permitted to operate a restaurant which is open to the public. The Honeywell Foundation's restaurant operations for the year ended December 31, 1960, were as follows:

Sales	$87, 401. 24
Expenses: Food	44, 424. 45
PayrollOther expense
Total	121, 313. 34
Net loss	33, 912. 10

As of December 31, 1960, the amount of money the Honeywell Foundation had invested in food service equipment was $109,377.57; the book amount was $52,188.79 after deducting the reserve for depreciation.

And the taxpaying competitor, of course, operates at a disadvantage.

The Consulting Engineers Council—with 1,500 member firms in the United States—is among the complainants before our committee. Mr. Donald A. Buzzell, executive director, describes the problems created by their tax-exempt competitors as follows:

"We concur heartily in the conclusions you draw from the Small Business Committee study, and are certain that an extension of the inquiry beyond the 500 selected organizations will reveal a great deal more than you have discovered to date with regard to abuses of the privileges conferred upon tax-exempt

"The consulting engineer in private practice is faced with many problems in his efforts to serve the community. He is a true 'small business' professional, the average number of employees for all U.S. firms being slightly over 20, the median probably being under 10. He is beset by competition of all kinds, including engineering services performed by Federal, State, and local government, engineering advice furnished by the manufacturers and distributors of equipment, and engineering services performed 'at by research and development organizations enjoying the advantage of tax exemption.

. . those who do pay taxes are carrying an additional share of the load as a result of the exemptions granted to others.

"We have access to numerous specific examples of assignments of engineering services to not-for-profit organizations resulting in the loss of work by taxpaying consulting engineering firms. I will cite an example coming to our attention last week, one of many now in our files: Johannessen & Girand, a firm of consulting engineers located in Phoenix, Ariz., had discussed engineering services with the Bureau of Indian Affairs, U.S. Department of the Interior. These services included studies for development of an adequate water supply and subsequent expansion of tourist trade at the Hopi Reservation in Arizona. This project is identified at T. A. project 47-ARA.

"Negotiations had developed to the point where a firm price proposal had been made.

"The consulting engineer's proposal was disclosed to the Armour Research Foundation of Chicago which organization offered to perform these services at the consultant's figure, less 10 percent for profit. The contract was awarded to the Armour organization on June 29, 1962.

"Thus, we are confronted with the spectacle of a tax-supported Federal agency dealing with a taxexempt organization in the award of such outside service contracts as may be negotiated.

"Pursuing this course to its ultimate conclusion, the very tax base which finances Government activities will be destroyed."

On November 1, 1962, the Consulting Engineers Council submitted the following additional information to our committee:

"By way of preamble, consulting engineering embraces all of the engineering disciplines, and is by no means confined to nor even primarily concerned with designs, plans, and specifications for structures and engineering work, as is often supposed. Consulting engineers are concerned with such diverse fields as industrial process, metallurgy, community planning, power rates, soil conditions, traffic movement, time and motion studies, and lighting problems, to mention only

"Assignments in these fields and in connection with the design of components, machines, and structures are invariably begun with intensive study, research, investigation, and economic analysis. It can be seen, then, that consulting engineers and basic research organizations have many common concerns and are engaged in parallel lines of endeavor.

"The growth of research institutes during the past two decades has been nothing short of phenomenal.

"Originally, research institutes undertook theoretical engineering research and development studies, the results of which had basic application to the science of engineering. Professional engineers have been responsible for the practical application of the sciences, including studies, research, and design incident to specific projects and problems. In many instances, consulting engineers in private practice have been retained by research institutes for assignments incident to basic research projects.

"More recently we have been confronted with encroachment by research institutes into the field of consulting engineering. Specifically, many of these organizations are now actively seeking engineering assignments on the pretext that such assignments constitute 'basic research' which will produce significant new information with broad basic application. In actuality, these instances of which we complain are engineering projects of a routine nature, which will not in any way produce new, basic knowledge, application, or techniques.

"We feel that these extensions beyond the original concepts of basic research into direct competition with taxpaying private enterprise firms are in violation of the principle upon which tax-exempt status is conferred, and will have disastrous results if unchecked.

"What is the net effect upon consulting engineers as a whole? This is difficult to answer in terms of dollars and cents, as there are hundreds of research institutes carrying out, collectively, thousands of assignments. Our attention has been drawn to only that fraction of the total number of cases of competition that have involved one or more consulting engineers in addition to the tax-exempt organization. More often than not, because professional services contracts and agreements with research organizations are privately negotiated, the knowledge of an assignment is only accidental. It has been estimated by consulting engineers who have followed the development of this competition that the loss of fees to these tax-exempt organizations totals annually at least $10 million. The tax loss is, of course, in direct proportion.

"Typical examples of engineering assignments carried out by tax-exempt research institutes are cited in support of our contention that taxpaying consultation engineers are suffering direct competition.

Denver Research Institute, Denver, Colo.

"Feasibility studies of alternative trash disposal and collection systems for several metropolitan areas."

Such studies are routine consulting engineering assignments; they are being made for specific public agencies; they will not, and do not even pretend to, provide new basic knowledge with general applicability.

The same institute was engaged in studies connected with the location and construction of a baseball stadium in the Denver area, another project hardly qualifying as basic research.

Stanford Research Institute, Menlo Park, Calif.

1. "An Economic Study of the Ventura River Municipal Water District," dated May 1955, prepared for a combine of oil and development companies, reviewed a proposed Bureau of Reclamation project for the Ventura River Municipal Water District, California. The reported fee was $60,000. This is work customarily performed by consulting engineers in private practice.

2. Preparation of a report entitled "Economic Considerations in the Formulation and Repayment of California Water Plan Projects," dated March 1958. Prepared for the John Randolph Haynes and Dora Haynes Foundation. Cost unknown. Typical consulting engineering assignment.

3. Report "Effects of Differences in Water Quality, Upper Santa Ana Valley and Coastal San Diego County," October 1958, for the State of California, Department of Water Resources, at a cost of $50,000. This is an assignment which could easily have been handled by a consulting engineering firm.

4. April 1960, report entitled "Availability and Use of Water in the San Bernardino Valley Municipal Water District, California." Cost unknown.

5. April 1962, report prepared for the San Bernardino Valley Municipal Water District, "Preliminary Planning of Water Transmission Facilities."

 $\begin{array}{ccc} Automotive & Safety & Foundations, & Washington, \\ & D.C. \end{array}$

The Automotive Safety Foundation was formed in 1937 to support basic highway safety research. To date, more than $25 million has been expended by the foundation, about half of this total being disbursed to other organizations, and half retained by the Automotive Safety Foundation for direct expenditures.

Many of the foundation's activities are properly the function of an organization supported by several industries and contributing to the general public safety and welfare.

Many others, undertaken more recently, are more properly the functions of private industry, serving, as they do, specific clients. These latter projects include appraisals of the policies and practices of more than 20 State highway departments, undertaken on an individual basis. These studies include organization productivity, planning, design, land acquisition, construction, and traffic engineering recommendations.

Also noted in Automotive Safety Foundations 1961 annual report, page 10, "Automotive Safety Foundation will continue contractual relations established some years ago to provide consulting service in basic planning to the Canadian Province of Manitoba. The first phase, dealing with the principal Provincial road system, has been completed; the second, covering the road system of local municipalities, is now underway. In this work the foundation is making available to the Province the advanced techniques developed in the States."

And from the same report, page 11, "Typical of the specialized areas in which Automotive Safety Foundation engineers will be working with officials in the future is the highway programing study currently being conducted for the State of Washington. It will develop the necessary procedures for scheduling State, county, and city highway improvements on the basis of anticipated revenues..."

These studies, concerning specific projects and programs, and benefiting specific clients, properly belong with consulting engineers in private practice.

Division of Industrial Research, Washington State University, Pullman, Washington

The Washington State University Division of Industrial Research advertises by leaflet entitled "What Is the Division of Industrial Research?" as follows: "This is an unusual research organization, combining the advantages of both university and commercial research."

In April of this year the division published a - list of new projects, including the following:

  1. Vibration Fatigue Study—Olin Compresto Conductors (Olin Conductors, client).
  - 2. Vibration Decay Study on Olin Compresto Conductors (Olin Conductors).

3. Hydraulics of Boiling Flow Through Bends and Other Fittings.

- Investigation of the Torque Characteristics of Aerospace Ball Bearings at -65° F. After Oxidation of the Lubricant (Sandia Corp.).
- 5. Critical Evaluation of the Endevco Transmission Line Vibration Damper (Endevco Corp.).

6. Market Survey of the Industrial Uses of Wheat in the Pacific Northwest (Washington Wheat Commission).

7. Research Oriented Abstract Services on Industrial Utilization of Wheat (Washington Wheat Commission).

8. Recovery of Marketable Products from Magnesite Flue Dust (Northwest Magnesite Co.).

9. Kodiak Water Distribution Analysis

(city of Kodiak, Alaska).

10. Study of UHF Meters (Washington State patrol).

11. Development of a Torque Screw Pole Tester (Bonneville Power Administration).

12. Electron Microscopy Study of Missile Greases (Sandia Corp.).

13. Study of Instrumentation for Control of Starch Moisture Content (Menan Starch Co.).

14. Packwood Drop Structure Model (R. W. Beck & Associates).

15. Investigation of Cartridge Primers (Cascade Cartridge, Inc.).

16. Investigation of Spokane Monroe Street Explosion.

17. Preparation of 4- by 4-foot Flakeboards (the Dow Chemical Co.).

18. Study of Basic Stress Values for Lock Deck (Potlatch Forests, Inc.).

19. Study of Municipal Water Supply (city of Lacrosse, Wash.). 20. McIlroy Analyzer Study of Campus Water System (buildings grounds).

21. Chemical Analysis of Feed Samples (department of animal husbandry).

22. Analysis of Ash from Turkey Eggs (poultry science department).

23. Spectrochemical Analysis of Ore Samples (Lewis and Clark College).

24. Petrographic Study of Rock Core Samples (Healy-Granite)

25. Analysis of Calcium Phosphate and Calcium Carbonate (agricultural experiment station).

26. Comparison Analysis of Monels (Granville-Phillips, Inc.).

27. Preparation of Tally type A grease (Tally Register Corp.)

28. Residue and water analysis (buildings and ground)

These projects were selected for our listing on the basis of specific product or project studies benefiting only a single client. It is difficult to imagine the continuation of tax-exempt status presumably granted on the basis of broad, general research benefiting the public, when each of the projects listed above has to do with items manufactured and sold for profit.

Battelle Memorial Institute, Columbus, Ohio

Many of the projects undertaken by this institute do not belong in the non-private-enterprise category of engineering research. For example, early last year the Tri-County Planning Commission in the Lansing, Mich., area, announced studies concerning water resources problems. Four research institutes expressed an interest in performing this study, in addition to consulting engineers who were willing and able to undertake the assignment.

The $48,000 study was assigned to the taxexempt Battelle Memorial Institute.

Armour Research Foundation, Chicago, Ill.

Reported to you earlier was the case of the Armour Research Foundation soliciting and obtaining assignment of Interior Department Bureau of Indian Affairs TA project 47-ARA, awarded June 29, 1962, for study of adequate water supply development, Hopi Reservation, Ariz.

A consulting engineer was actively engaged in discussions which he had reason to believe would lead to retention for this assignment.

The agreement with Armour totals $29,100. "The above provides an indication of the nature of the competition being experienced by consulting engineers from tax-exempt organizations. We have no means of determining the exact total of dollars lost by engineers in private practice as a result of this competition, and can only express our firm conviction that this amount is sizable, and that the extent of this competition is growing, as foundations and institutes flourish under the tax umbrella now provided.

"We earnestly solicit your further study and investigation, and hope that steps will be taken to eliminate direct commercial competition with taxpaying small professional practitioners, which was surely not envisioned in granting tax-exempt status to institutes, foundations, and other research organizations."

The following article by William R. MacKaye, in the Houston Chronicle of November 20, 1962, describes three foundation-controlled enterprises that are in direct competition with taxpaying businessmen.

TAXES AND CHARITY—MANY HUDDLE UNDER EXEMPTIONS UMBRELLA

By William R. MacKaye Chronicle Washington Bureau

Washington.—The umbrella of income tax exemption, under which more than 62,000 charitable organizations huddle, spreads over some startlingly politically minded groups and some rather impressive businesses. The law defines as a tax-exempt charity any group "organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or edu-cational purposes or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals."

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC

Here are highlights from the information returns of three such charities selected at random:

The credentials of the National Geographic Society as an organization at once scientific, literary and educational are impeccable. The society carries on its endeavors through publication of a well-known monthly magazine.

In 1961, the society reported, its gross income was $28,578,510.54; its excess of operating income over operating expenses was $1,297,925.99. Add to this $927,286.15 in other income, mostly interest and dividends, and one arrives at a tax-free grand total of $2,225,212.14 of net income.

The society gave away for research purposes $326,535.63, leaving $1,898,-676.51 which went untaxed into its coffers.

Net worth of the society, it reported, is now $26,938,790.18.

SCIENTIFIC GROUPS

Less well-known to the general but practically household words to the academic and military communities are the Rand Corp., Santa Monica, Calif., and the Institute for Defense Analyses (IDA), Cambridge, Mass.

These two tax-exempt scientific research organizations reported 1961 gross incomes of $17,465,215.37 and $8,091,728, respectively.

Main activity of these two organizations—and scores of others like them—is executing research contracts for the U.S. Government, mainly the Department of Defense.

In this sphere, they are in competition with the research divisions of many private, profit-making (and taxpaying) companies. They operate at a handy advantage and their private enterprise competitors frequently complain about it.

IDA's 1961 information return to the Internal Revenue Service discloses virtually no information about its activities.

The institute reported earning $11,916 in interest, $255,877 in contributions and $8,079,812 in "other income."

In its discussion of expenses, the institute reported no expenditures for compensation of officers, salaries, interest, taxes, rent, and depreciation.

It reported $8,079,812 in "miscellaneous expenses," precisely the amount of its "other income," leaving $11,916 accumulated income which presumably was added to its net worth.

This net worth, the institute reported, is $1,431,258.

REPORT NOT INFORMATIVE

The Rand Corp.'s receipts from its operations in 1961 totaled $17,465,-215.37. But its return to the IRS scarcely more revealing than IDA's.

Rand reported, without itemization, costs of operations totaling $16,-935,690.31, leaving a net profit on its business of $529,525.06. Of this, Rand spent $460,890.46 for contributions and grants, leaving $68,634.60 accumulated income.

The corporation now has accumulated funds of $5,268,291.94 and a net worth of $6,268,291.94, it stated.

Critics of nonprofit, tax-exempt research firms charge they burn up what otherwise would be corporate profits in unreasonably high salaries to their stables of thinkers, then charge these salaries to the Government as part of their cost of operations.

Most Government research contracts pay the contractor his costs plus a predetermined sum as his profit.

Both Rand's and IDA's returns were prepared in such a manner that a check on the average salary of their employees is impossible.

IDA reported it had 432 employees. but failed to disclose what it had paid in salaries and wages. Rand failed to report either figure, though both are called for in the Information Return Form.

Elsewhere in the maze of taxexempt organizations other oddities crop up, suggesting conflicts between the organization's actual activities and the public service concept on which the idea of tax exemption is based.

The Tax Foundation, Inc., a taxexempt "educational" organization in New York, which furnishes its findings free to the Washington press corps, led off a recent issue of its Review with this observation:

"Present taxation of personal income by the Federal Government restricts the freedom and initiative of the individual, weakens his incentives, and cuts down his potential earning power. Rates are too high; they unduly limit private saving and spending. . . ."

Laudable as these views may be, they have a strongly political flavor. Anyone is free to contribute to the foundation and take it off his income

"NONPARTISAN" POSTERS

In 1956 the William Volker Fund, Burlingame, Calif., spent $8,056 for the distribution of what it described as "nonpartisan presidential election posters.

Although the IRS shies away from a detailed discussion of the subject, the evidence suggests the Service exercises only mild supervision over tax-exempt organizations.

The law requires some of the information on annual returns of the organizations to be available to the public—presumably to enable the public to assist the service in this supervision—but the IRS has chosen to interpret the mandate of law as narrowly as possible.

The public gets literally what the law requires—and no more. For example, every reporting organization must list "the total of the contributions and gifts received by it" each year for the Service and for the public. But the itemization of gifts exceeding $100, which the Service also demands, is closed from public scrutiny.

The Service insists on an itemization of contributions made by the organization, but says the public is entitled to know only the "classes" of contributions made.

The Service asks each organiza-tion annually whether it has engaged in political activity, but closes the reply from public view.

Seemingly overlooked in the law, and in IRS regulations, is the fact that exemption from income taxes and the power to collect deductible contributions is a tremendous privilege.

Complete disclosure of the activities of tax-exempt organizations could help insure that this privilege is not abused.

LEASE-BACKS

Independent service station operators, small, independent retailers, and real estate investors are discovering that their fields are not immune to foundation-inspired competition. In St. Paul, Minn., three foundations—Louis W. & Maud Hill Family Foundation, Amherst R. Wilder Foundation, and Tozer Foundation—have been purchasing gasoline service stations and commercial buildings and leasing them back to the sellers, Pure Oil Co., Cities Service Oil Co., General Electric Co., and F. W. Woolworth Co.

Such sale and lease-back deals are the equivalent of providing these companies with instant capital with which they can accelerate their growth in competition with independent service station operators, and small retailers. This enables these big oil companies, General Electric, and the Woolworth chain to expand without having to go into the money market for capital. Thus, these foundations are not only in the commercial investment business, in competition with real estate investors, but they are being used as a handy tool to speed up control of our economy by corporate giants and to limit opportunities for small, independent businessmen.

The Louis W. & Maud Hill Family Foundation, of St. Paul, shows investments in real estate approximating $2 million as of February 28, 1960. This amount represents cost less amortization. The real estate represents properties in the form of commercial buildings, service stations, etc., which have been leased to commercial businesses for periods of years—ranging from 10 to 25 years, but most frequently for 15 years. The number of such leases for 1960 was approximately 25.

The gross rental income received by this foundation during 1960 was $238,857; of this amount $96,488 was reported on its tax return as rental income. The balance, $142,369, was amortized being credited against the investment account. This means the foundation will have written off its entire investment in real estate by the time the various leases expire. The foundation is, in effect, depreciating its land and buildings over the life of the leases. It is my impression that land is not a depreciable asset and that buildings are usually depreciated over their useful life.

The following describes some of the leases the Hill Foundation owned in conjunction with service stations and commercial buildings as well as the book value of the property as of February 29, 1960:

Beginning 1954, this foundation reported its leaseback rental income in a manner similar to the Hill Foundation, i.e., only part of the rental receipts are recorded as income; the other part is treated as amortization of their investment.

It is hardly necessary to prove by statistical facts that business is becoming more and more concentrated—and, without a doubt, tax-exempt foundations are helping to push us in that direction.

There is every indication that foundation-controlled enterprises have unfair competitive advantages. This is so despite provisions of the present tax laws which deal with unrelated business income, sale and leaseback transactions, prohibited transactions, etc.

Some of these competitive advantages are as follows:

1. The "owner" of the foundation usually controls both the foundation and its business subsidiaries.

2. Readily available cash. It is quite an advantage to have a ready source for cash without having to assume a responsibility to banks or stockholders. On May 12, 1954, the Sears, Roebuck Foundation made a short-term loan in the amount of $1,200,000 at 3 percent interest to Sears, Roebuck & Co.

3. Foundation control of businesses puts taxpaying businessmen—particularly small businessmen—at the mercy of giants with tax umbrellas. A foundationcontrolled business, with no stockholders to worry about could conceivably operate at a loss for some time in order to eliminate a competitor. It is suggested that in periods of recession destructive competition could result from foundation controlled enterprises since making a profit, paying dividends, and maintaining equity credit are of little concern to a privately controlled, tax-exempt foundation.

The Scholler Foundation, of Philadelphia, an alleged charitable foundation, created under a deed of trust in 1939, is frequently cited as an example of a foundation being used to perpetuate control of businesses and to assure that the business managements get substantial private benefits out of the companies. Its assets consist of all or controlling shares of several businesses, including a chemical manufacturing company and a restaurant and bar-leasing venture. The foundation is also a substantial stockholder in the Atlantic City racetrack.

It is alleged that the Scholler Foundation's deed of trust, as amended, permits the foundation to make loans to the business corporations, which it controls, at such rates of interest as the trustees see fit. This permits funds earmarked for charity to be used as venture capital. The foundation's business corporations are thus given a great advantage over other private business corporations by being able to make tax-free contributions to the foundation and thus build up a large reserve which they may tap at will. How can private business-especially small busi--compete with such an arrangement?

Allegedly, the provisions of the Scholler trust also include the right to use the foundation as a conduit for employee benefits. When a foundation-controlled company is able to use tax-free funds for the benefit of its employees, the inherent competitive advantages to the company are obvious.

Advantages accrue to both the foundation and the donor:

1. The foundation pays no Federal income tax.

2. The donor neither pays gift tax nor estate tax on contributions to the foundation.

3. For income tax purposes, an individual donor is granted a deduction up to 30 percent of his net income; a corporate donor is allowed to deduct up to 5

4. The donor's contributions constitute capital to the foundation-not income so they need not be distributed.

The Internal Revenue Code contains no provision to prevent large funds from being built up by foundations from contributions received by them. Since a corporation's annual contribution to its foundation is capital in the hands of the foundation and only the income from these contribu-tions need be distributed, the Internal Revenue Service cannot prevent large funds from being built up by corporation-created foundations. And, since contributions are not subject to the provisions for distribution annually, the prohibition against unreasonable accumulations does not apply.

Apparently, private individuals may even receive annuities from a foundation's income. The position of the Internal Revenue Service is that private individuals may not receive annuities from a foundation's income, but there are, however, court decisions which hold under the "predominant purpose" doctrine that the payment of annuities from a foundation's income does not preclude exemption (Francis Edward McGillick Foundation v. Commissioner, 278 F. (2d) 643 affirming 30 T.C. 1130; Commissioner of Internal Revenue v. Orton, 173 F. (2d) 483, affirming 9 T.C. 533).

INQUIRY INTO THE ACQUISITION AND USE OF FOUNDATION FUNDS

The following are among the subjects that need careful examination. They relate to the acquisition and use of foundation funds.

1. Foundations' business activities.

2. Foundations interlocked with a business through stock ownership and common control by the donor.

3. Foundations' moneylending activities. At present, the only restraint on moneylending of foundations appears to be that loans must carry a "reasonable" rate of interest. Commissioner Mortimer Caplin has advised me that a foundation or family trust may make a loan of corpus or income to the following persons, among others: "its creator, (2) his family, (3) the businesses under his control, or (4) a donor who has made a substantial contribution to the foundation. Generally, such a transaction would not constitute a basis for revocation of exemption."

Indeed, one of the tax returns of the Lansing Foundation, of New York City, shows "other income of $3,000 which is described as the value of stock of General Appliance Corp. received by the foundation as a "premium for making loan available to that corporation." There is no indication of the amount of the loan. In another year, the same foundation's tax return shows "other income" of $55,500 which is described as having been received by the foundation "for the guarantee of bank loans."

The following is a partial list of notes receivable appearing on the balance sheet of the Albert A. List Foundation, Inc., of Byram, Conn., as of June 30, 1961:

The Crescent Co	$167,000
Webb & Knapp, Inc	750,000
Webb & Knapp, Inc., Flushing Co	110,000
Deerfield Associates, Inc	100,000
15 East 86th St. Corp	194, 500
Total	1, 321, 500

On October 1, 1957, this foundation loaned $300,000 at 6 percent interest to Mr. Albert A. List, chairman of its board of trustees. One-half of the loan was repaid 1 week later, on October 8, 1957, and the balance was repaid on December 17, 1957, together with interest of $2,071.24.

4. Instances where donors or associates obtain capital from foundations whenever needed at "reasonable rates," thus eliminating the need for equity credit and concern over dividend payments.

5. Instances where donors—by loans, exchanges, or purchase—obtain a return of certain assets from the foundation whenever needed.

6. Mortgage holdings of foundations.7. Possible conflict of interest between the duties of a foundation's directors and trustees and their interests as officers, stockholders, and employees of business corporations whose stock is controlled by the foundation.

8. Extent of foundation favoritism in investments. Common action on the part of foundations and associates in the purchase and sale of securities could limit opportunities for certain companies. could hinder stock financing of small businesses and slow down their expansion plans.

9. The use of foundation money and other assets to carry on proxy fights. There were a number of such cases during 1960 and 1961.

In 1960, during the battle for control of the Endicott Johnson Corp., the Albert A. List Foundation, of Byram, Conn., received 54,000 shares of Endicott Johnson from the J. M. Kaplan Fund, of New York City. These shares were used by Mr. Albert A. List in his unsuccessful attempt to acquire control of the corporation (see ch. III, p. 81, for details).

According to press reports, during the struggle over the Alleghany Corp. between Allan P. Kirby and the Murchison brothers, the Fred M. Kirby Foundation purchased Alleghany shares, which had not previously paid a dividend.

10. Foundation transactions which channel income and corpus in a direction that may hurt competitors and their investors.

11. Availability of a foundation's services, such as research, market studies, etc., to businesses on a preferential basis.

12. Contributions to foundations from persons or organizations that supply goods and services to companies interlocked with the foundation.

13. Excessive payment for assets purchased by foundations.

14. Foundations' sale of assets for inadequate consideration.

15. Instances where foundation moneys are being used to grant benefits to a company's employees.

LACK OF STATE AND FEDERAL SUPERVISION

I am informed that, at the present time, so-called charitable foundations in certain States are created merely by a deed of trust. There is little adequate State or Federal regulation or supervision for the creation and administration of such organizations. In some States, foundations operate in secret since they do not register as nonprofit organizations under the provisions of applicable nonprofit codes. On the one hand, State authorities rely on the Internal Revenue Service to determine who is entitled to tax-exempt status. On the other hand, when an organization receives a nonprofit charter from the State.

it carries considerable weight with the Internal Revenue As a result, foundations are seldom properly scrutinized by any public authority.

Our investigation should help get to the root of some enforcement problems that the Internal Revenue Service has been unable to cope with.

Already, our inquiry has, to a large degree, sparked the Treasury Department's decision to make more information on foundations available to the public. Much information that was formerly classified as confidential, or was not easily obtainable, is now being made readily available.

STOCK OWNERSHIP TO BE AVAILABLE TO THE PUBLIC

Foundations owning 10 percent or more stock in a corporation are required to attach a list to page 2 of Form 990-A showing (1) the name of the corporation, (2) the number of shares of each type of stock owned (including information indicating whether the stock is voting or nonvoting), and (3) the value of the stock as recorded in the foundation's books. In the past, the Treasury Department has followed a policy of nondisclosure of such information. Now it is my pleasure to advise the members that, in keeping with President Kennedy's desire for full disclosure of information, the Treasury Department has informed me that ownership of corporate stock by exempt organizations will be made available to the public on future annual returns filed by foundations.

In addition, the Treasury Department will amend its regulations to provide for the furnishing of photocopies of pages 1 and 2 of Form 990-A, including attachments to those pages. Pages 1 and 2 and attachments have not previously been open to public inspection; those pages contain itemization of certain foundation disbursements and other information not shown on pages 3 and 4, such as ownership of 10 percent or more stock in a corporation. In my speech of August 7, 1961, I advised the Members that the Treasury Department had agreed to permit photocopies of pages 3 and 4 of Form 990-A. Now the Treasury has concluded that, on future returns, it will also adopt my recommendation to permit photocopies of also adopt my recommendation to permit photocopies of pages 1 and 2 and attachments, in addition to pages 3 and 4. To this end, Form 990-A will be redesigned in order to shed more light on foundation transactions, and thus provide a measure of supervision comparable to that which exists for stock corporations in the Securities Exchange Commission. With more information available to the Members as well as the public, a more intelligent appraisal of foundation operations will be possible.

The foundation device has been the subject of many articles, pamphlets, books, and newsletters. I should like to submit part of one to you—an excerpt from an article in the Cleveland-Marshall Law Review—written by Berman & Berman, tax attorneys. The article points up the refinements of controlling property without ownership a rather unique economic theory. It goes as follows:

"What can be accomplished by creating a foundation?

"1. Keep control of wealth.

"2. Can keep for the donor many attributes of wealth by many means:

"(a) Designating the administrative management of the foundation.

"(b) Control over its investments.
"(c) Appointing relatives as directors of foundation.

"(d) Foundation's assets can be used to borrow money to buy other property that does not jeopardize its purposes. Thus, foundation funds can be enhanced from the capitalization of its tax exemption.

"3. The foundation can keep income in the family.

"4. Family foundations can aid employees of the donor's business.

"5. Foundations may be the method of insuring that funds will be available for use in new ventures in business.

"6. We can avoid income from property while it is slowly being given to a foundation by a combination of a trust and the charitable foundation.

"7. We can get the 20 percent charity deduc-tion in other ways:

"(a) By giving away appreciated property to the foundation, we escape a tax on the realization of a gain.

"(b) We can give funds to a foundation to get charitable deduction currently in our most advantageous tax year.

"(c) Very often local personal and real property taxes can be avoided.

"(d) We can avoid speculative profits.
"(e) We can give away valuable 'frozen assets,' white elephant estates, residences, valuable works of art, and collections of all arts."

I shall not attempt to judge the soundness of this tax advice, but, judging from the enormous increase in foundations, it has unquestionably taken hold.

Apparently, some of our wealthier families are not content with just one tax-exempt foundation, and hence their foundations proliferate. So the "owners" have their main foundations, and then they have their subsidiary founda-

For example, the Ford family has the Ford Foundation and then they have subsidiary foundations which include: Benson and Edith Ford Fund, Eleanor Clay Ford Fund, Henry and Anne Ford Fund, Walter and Josephine Ford Fund, William and Martha Ford Fund, and the Ford Motor Co. Fund. The total receipts, including contributions received, of the seven Ford foundations were $1,737,-216,789 for the years 1951 through 1960; $1,670,207,470 of this amount applies to the Ford Foundation.

The Mellon family has the A. W. Educational & Charitable Trust as well as a number of subsidiaries which include the Richard King Mellon Foundation, Avalon Foundation, Bollingen Foundation, Sarah Mellon Scaife Foundation, and the Old Dominion Foundation. total receipts, including contributions received, of the six Mellon foundations were $199,823,125 for the years 1951 through 1960.

The Rockefeller family has the Rockefeller Foundation as well as a number of subsidiary foundations which include China Medical Board of New York, Council on Economic and Cultural Affairs, American International Association for Economic and Social Development, Government Affairs Foundation of Albany, N.Y., Rockefeller Brothers Fund, Esso Education Foundation, General Education Board, Sealantic Fund, Inc., Colonial Williamsburg, the Rockefeller Institute, and Sleepy Hollow Restorations, Iuc. The total receipts, including contributions received, of the 12 Rockefeller foundations were $660,-706,900 for the years 1951 through 1960. $238,688,318 of this amount applies to the Rockefeller Foundation.

An interesting compilation of the annual receipts, including contributions, gifts, grants, etc., received, of the Rockefeller Foundation for the entire period of May 14, 1913, through December 31, 1960. This compilation includes the receipts of the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial for the years 1918 to 1929. The latter was merged with the Rockefeller Foundation on January 3, 1929. The Rockefeller Foundation's total receipts for these 48 years were $876,243,679. The foundation's actual net expenditures after refunds, excluding appropriations in force and unpaid at December 31, 1960, were $688,674,867 for the years 1913 through 1960, which is $197,869,910 less than years 1913 through 1960—which is $187,568,812 less than their receipts for the same years.

Also, there are a number of Carnegie foundations. They include: Carnegie Corporation of New York, Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, N.Y.C., Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, N.Y.C., Carnegie Institution of Washington, and Carnegie Hero Fund Commission, Pittsburgh. The total receipts, in-cluding contributions received, of these five Carnegie foundations were $214,577,621 for the years 1951 through Page 20 shows a compilation of the annual receipts of the Carnegie Corp. of New York for the period of September 30, 1912, through September 30, 1960. This foundation's total receipts for these 49 years were $400,673,832. The foundation's actual net expenditures after refunds, excluding appropriations in force and unpaid at September 30, 1960, were $293,014,567 for the years 1912 through 1960—which is $107,659,265 less than their receipts for the same years.

Obviously, tax-exempt foundations have been and are being used, in part, to avoid Federal estate taxes. Thus huge fortunes are kept from being returned to public use for channeling into our economy without limitations.

The late Secretary of the Treasury Mellon used a charitable foundation to avoid estate taxes on a multimillion-dollar estate. Of more recent date, the Ford Foundation was used to reduce the taxable estates of Henry and Edsel Ford and to avoid having to sell Ford Motor Co. stock to the public in order to meet large estate taxes. Thus the Ford Foundation was given over 90 percent of the equity in the Ford Motor Co.

So substantial parts of the great fortunes of those who have profited by the enormous expansion of American industry have found their way into tax-exempt founda-These foundations have already passed and will continue to pass—by right of inheritance—to the control of heirs or their trustees. This enables a few individuals to control ever increasing tax exempt wealth.

FOUNDATIONS VERSUS HOLDING COMPANIES

Foundations today bear a frightening resemblance to the bank holding companies that were invented by the champions of monopoly and combination in the early 1900's. They characterized interlocking directorates and consolidations as "cooperation." At that time, some of our national banks were inseparably tied together with security holding companies in both ownership and management. These holding companies had unlimited powers—just as foundations do—to buy, sell, and speculate in stocks, just as if they were private investment corporations of boundless powers, with no public duties or responsibilities and not dependent on public confidence.

Back in those days, the whole arrangement was merely a pretext behind which the bank's officers were merely shielding themselves in making money for the bank's stockholders through the prestige, resources, and organization of the bank—and by means that were forbidden to the bank.

The holding companies were so organized that their stock was always owned by the same person who owned the stock of the bank-and in the same proportionswhile no person who was not a director of the bank could be a director of the holding company, and finally, the stock of the holding company had to be held by the officers of the bank as trustees. The bank and the holding company were thus one with the same association of persons—just as foundations and their "owners" and managers are one and inseparable.

Are we in fact witnessing today developments as destructive of genuine, healthy private enterprise as our predecessors were then?

It is evident that control of our industrial and commercial enterprises is to an ever-increasing degree passing into the hands of tax-exempt foundations through stock ownership. In my view, this is a dangerous situation with its boundless temptations and opportunities. I do not agree with the cheerful philosophy that the situation will right itself. The law must properly safeguard the community against possible abuses of the tax exemption privilege by the "owners" of foundations or their

Footnotes

1954—the figures shown in cols. 4, 5, 6, and 7 relate to the last year (1954) of the col. 3 grouping. Frequently, however, the figures for the last year of a grouping may be the same as those for the earlier years.

2 Foundation's equity in the net assets of the corporation.

3 The foundation's book value is used wherever there is no stated market value.

4 Such data has not been submitted by the foundation.

5 Data for later years has not as yet been submitted by the foundation.

6 Estimated

Estimated.

Carried on foundation's books at no value.

Data for earlier years has not as yet been submitted by the foundation.

&lt;sup>1</sup> For the period 1951-55, the Internal Revenue Service required foundations to file balance sheets which set forth pertinent information as of the beginning of the year. Beginning with 1955, the Internal Revenue Service rules were changed so that balance sheet reporting was required as of both the beginning and end of the year; however, for the year 1955, many foundations nevertheless continued to report such information as of only the beginning of the year.

Thus, wherever the dates in col. 3 pertain solely to any part of the 1951-55 period, the figures shown in cols. 4, 5, 6, and 7 usually relate to the beginning of the calendar or fiscal year unless otherwise indicated.

Wherever there is a grouping of accounting periods in col. 3—for example, 1951 through

Chapter II

534 FOUNDATIONS PAID OUT ONLY 60 PERCENT OF THEIR AGGREGATE RECEIPTS

During the period of 1951 through 1960, the contributions, gifts, grants, scholarships, etc., paid out by the 534 foundations totaled $3,448,867,894 (Schedule 3A)—roughly 50 percent of their aggregate receipts of $6,981,-180,819. They claimed expenses, including administrative and operating expenses, of $721,199,586, almost 10 percent of the total receipts.

The following is a breakdown of the expenses and disbursements:

The disbursements ranged from individual donations of 50 cents by the David, Josephine, and Winfield Baird Foundation, of New York City (assets $10 million, as of December 31, 1960), to the millions given by the Ford Foundation, of New York City (assets $1.5-$2 billion, as of September 30, 1960).

In this area also—i.e., expenses and disbursements—far too many foundations failed to file all the information required by law and Treasury regulations. Reporting all the faults, abuses, and improper filing would fill countless pages. I shall only cite a few. Individual examples are used only for the purpose of illustrating the problems and effecting remedies.

Some of the expenditures are indeed disturbing. The expenses shown below are among the expenditures of the Ford Foundation, the Howard Hughes Medical Institute of Miami Beach, and its wholly owned subsidiary, Hughes Aircraft Co., of Culver City, Calif. Such information does not appear in the tax returns of the foundations. We obtained the data from the payees, Newmyer Associates, Inc., and Carl Byoir & Associates, Inc.

The Internal Revenue Service has not performed a field audit of the Ford Foundation for at least 11 years.

Here we have $931,441 of public funds spent privately by two tax exempt foundations and a wholly owned subsidiary for "public relations" purposes. Newmyer Associates, Inc. and Carl Byoir & Associates, Inc., are two of the Nation's well-known public relations firms. They are specialists in (1) creating a favorable image for clients of great wealth, (2) the formation of public opinion, and (3) promoting personal causes. Our staff has had a number of calls for information from representatives of these companies.

Expenditures such as these are an abuse of a public trust, an imposition on the kindhearted American people who subsidize the foundations. In my view, expenditures of this nature should be cause for revocation of tax exemption.

As I see it, our citizens should not be forced to contribute their share of taxes in order to pay for the upkeep of these types of operations. They have enough of a load without carrying foundations that engage in brainwashing activities. Every foundation tax exemption throws upon the people-at-large a larger proportion of the tax burden than they ought to bear. Moreover, they create a special privileged class of millionaires who prefer to unload huge funds and property in foundations rather than in building new houses and factories.

Numerous foundations have taken advantage of the nonfunctioning bureaucracy of the Treasury Department on an almost wholesale scale, as though their acts and omissions were legally beyond scrutiny. For example, Instruction 5, page 4 of the Form 990-A tax return requires the foundations to submit a detailed list of organizations and individuals to whom they paid out contributions, gifts, grants, scholarships, etc., but the regulation is ignored by many foundations. The following are a few examples of the manner in which such disbursements are shown on the tax returns during the 10-year period under study:

There are a number of contributions which I have difficulty relating to charitable causes. Item: In 1957, the Dorothy H. and Lewis Rosenstiel Foundation, of New York City, showed a contribution of $20,000 to Random House.

Item: During the period of 1951 through 1960, the William Volker Fund, of Burlingame, Calif., shows the following as contributions:

Donee	Amount
Doubleday & Company, Inc	$9,600.33
Nonpartisan presidential election posters	8, 056. 00
Opinion Research Corp	16,000.00
Osborne Co. posters	7, 585. 36

Item: The James S. Kemper Foundation, of Chicago, shows a contribution of $1,400 described as "Fund for the purchase of 1,000 copies of a history of mutual insurance entitled 'Biography of an Idea' by John Bainbridge, for distribution to college students of insurance at the close of their junior year."

Item: During the year 1960 the Richardson Foundation, of New York City and Greensboro, N.C., made a contribution of $10,000 to the National Conference of State Legislative Leaders, care of the Office of the Secretary, State Capitol, Albany, N.Y.

care of the Office of the Secretary, State Capitol, Albany, N.Y.

Item: During the year 1961, the Donner Foundation (now known as the Independence Foundation) of Philadelphia, showed expenses of $7,464.61 for "public relations."

It is my hope that our studies will encourage the American people to take a close look at foundation projects. For they must decide whether taxes should be poured on the smaller wage earner in increasingly heavy layers in order to support billions of dollars of untaxed wealth.

Chapter III

ASSETS OF FOUNDATIONS HAVE REACHED MASSIVE PROPORTIONS

This section deals with the assets of the 534 tax-exempt foundations which we have studied, and the uses to which these assets have been put. These foundations represent only a tiny fraction of the more than 45,000 foundations and charitable trusts which enjoy tax-exempt status and hence the involuntary contributions of millions of

Even this limited survey indicates that tax-exempt foundations have reached massive, undreamed-of proportions. They have assumed functions, in some cases, wholly foreign to the object for which they were granted tax exemption and, in my opinion, at variance with the public interest.

At the close of 1960, these 534 foundations had aggregate assets worth no less than $10,278,821,735. (See p. 73 and schedule 5.) Their financial condition, in general, was enviable. Aggregate net worth (total assets less liabilities) was no less than $9,849,816,359 (see p. 73 and schedule 6) as of the last accounting period (usually 1960).

Certain foundations have acquired immense power and position in our economy.

At the close of 1960, the net worth of the 534 foundations-$9,849,816,359-was 23 percent greater than the $7,963,135,000 capital funds (capital, surplus and undivided profits) of the Nation's 50 biggest commercial banks.

Their net worth was also 26 percent greater than the $7,760,078,000 invested capital (capital stock, surplus and retained earnings) of the Nation's 50 largest merchandising firms.

With all their wealth and the advantage of their precious "free pass" from the Congress, certain tax-exempt foundations have engaged in operations in conflict with Government policy. For example, the Ford Foundation, between March 1, 1961, and February 1, 1962, made 10 loans totaling $33 million to governments, banks, and private companies in foreign countries. This was at a time when our Government was trying desperately to reduce the deficit in our balance of payments.

In other cases, certain foundations have engaged in business operations in competition with private companies which lack the enormous advantage of a tax-exemption To cite the Ford Foundation again, it has loaned millions of dollars to railroads, airlines, boat manufacturers, oil companies, pipelines, cosmetic makers, real estate dealers, and other commercial ventures. Thus, this tax-exempt foundation is engaged in the money-lending business in direct competition with commercial banks and other normal, taxpaying suppliers of credit.

Foundations have loaned money to their creators, traded stock and property with them, paid for insurance policies on the life of the donor, financed benefit programs for a contributor's employees, and engaged in many other activities whose relevance to charity and social welfare seems remote.

I have stated that the assets of the 534 foundations were worth "no less" than $10.2 billion. This is a conservative figure. Their true value is undoubtedly much higher.

Whenever possible in this study, the market value of the securities held by foundations has been used instead of the value at which they are carried on the foundation's bal-

In many instances, however, the securities are those of closely held companies which are not traded. These are usually shown at the foundations' carrying value, normally lower than their real value.

For example, the value of the Ford Foundation securities would be much higher if its holdings of Ford Motor Co. class A stock were appraised at the market price of Ford common stock. No market price is quoted for the class A stock, but it can be converted or exchanged on a share-for-share basis under certain conditions into common stock with the same dividend rate. On September 30, 1960, the end of the Ford Foundation's fiscal year, the closing price of the common stock was $64.25 per share. Thus, the Ford Foundation's 31,910,296 shares of class A stock had a value of $2,050,236,518, as compared with $1,499,783,912 based on the equity value of $47 per share, which is shown on the foundation's balance sheet for that year. For 1960, the Ford Foundation listed total assets of $2,195,509,083. If the foundation had shown its holdings in Ford class A stock and other securities at market value as of September 30, its assets would have been at least $2,745,961,689. On April 24, 1962, incidentally, the foundation sold 2,250,000 shares of the stock at $97 per share.

The Altman Foundation, of New York, is another case in point. As of December 31, 1960, it owned 84.59 percent of the capital stock of B. Altman & Co. The foundation carried the stock at a value of $9,091,870. As of January 31, 1961, the foundation's equity in the net assets of B. Altman was $32,579,732.

Frequently other assets, such as land, real estate, inventories, patents, equipment, or works of art are under-

For example, at the close of 1960 the balance sheet of the Samuel H. Kress Foundation of New York did not carry paintings worth $23,336,671 which are loaned to museums or held in temporary storage.

The 1960 balance sheet of the John A. Hartford Foundation, of New York City, does not include approximately $900,000 of assets which were willed to it by George L. Hartford. Pending settlement of Mr. Hartford's estate, the foundation has carried its interest in four trust remainders at a nominal value of $1 each.

The Carnegie Corp., of New York City, assigns a $1 valuation to land and buildings at 2 East 91st Street, and at 9 East 90th Street, New York City.

The Howard Hughes Medical Institute, of Miami Beach, lists at $1 a leasehold which the institute estimates to be worth $17,500,000 over a 10-year period.

The growth of foundation assets has been phenomenal. The market value of the holdings of the 534 foundations as of 1951, the beginning of the period under study, is not available for comparison.

But the book value of their assets at the close of the first accounting period (1951 except in the case of foundations formed since then) totaled $2,925,260,173. As of the end of 1960, their assets based on book value totaled $7,222,964,307—an increase in 10 years of $4,297,704,135 or 148 percent.

The net worth of the foundations at the close of their first accounting period (usually 1951) was $2,760,097,066, based on book values. Net worth as of the last accounting period (usually 1960), based on book value, was $6,793,958,931—an increase in 10 years of $4,033,861,865 or 148 percent.

The large foundations have increased their assets steadily despite the enormous sums they have disbursed.

The Rockefeller Foundation, for example, had assets of $35,965,384 in the year 1913. By the end of 1960, 48 years later, it had spent $688,674,867, but its assets had pyramided to $536,022,187 (based on market value of securities held on December 31, wherever available).

The Carnegie Corp., of New York, had assets worth $127,225,808 in 1912. In 1960, after spending $293,014,568, the corporation's assets were $258,933,765 (based on market values of securities wherever available).

The Ford Foundation's original endowment from Edsel Ford in 1936 was $25,000. As of September 30, 1960, its assets were worth at least $2,745,961,689 (using market value for its holdings in Ford class A stock and other securities).

On December 11, 1924, the Duke Endowment, of New York City, had assets totaling $40,562,428. On December 31, 1960, its assets were worth $463,357,692.

On April 1, 1929, the John A. Hartford Foundation, Inc., of New York City, had assets totaling $25,000. On December 31, 1960, its assets were worth $309,065,660. The John A. Hartford Foundation, Inc., was incorporated on February 9, 1942; it was in effect a successor to a previous foundation incorporated on April 1, 1929.

On October 23, 1918, the Commonwealth Fund, of New York City, had assets totaling $9,917,300. On June 30, 1960, its assets were worth $114,571,904.

On December 13, 1934, the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, of New York City, had assets totaling $500,000. On December 31, 1960, its assets were worth $200,149,723.

On June 25, 1937, the Lilly Endowment, Inc., of Indianapolis, had assets totaling $262,500. On December 31, 1960, its assets were worth $126,935,631.

On December 27, 1930, the W. K. Kellogg Foundation, of Battle Creek, Mich., had assets totaling $64,479. On August 31, 1960, its assets were worth $46,246,884.

On July 27, 1934, the W. K. Kellogg Foundation Trust, of Battle Creek, Mich., had assets totaling $21,600,000. On August 31, 1960, its assets were worth $208,014,760.

On July 2, 1927, the Danforth Foundation, of St. Louis, had assets totaling $101,030. On December 31, 1960, its assets were worth $98,839,088.

The following are comparisons of assets—from the first date available to the last date available—for certain foundations of the Rockefeller family, Carnegie, the Mellon family, and the Ford family.

According to press reports, the Ford Foundation has donated $2,400,000 to the Brookings Institution for a program of research and education on taxation and public expenditures. This is of considerable interest to me, and, in the light of the Government's need for new sources of revenue, I respectfully suggest that the tax survey would get off to a whopping good start if the various Ford foundations voluntarily gave up their tax exemptions.

The growth of smaller foundations has been equally astonishing.

In 1951, the book value of the holdings of the Bing Fund, Inc., of Los Angeles, was $313,751. In 1960, its carrying value was $9,930,506 and its market value was $12,437,714.

The Public Health Foundation for Cancer and Blood Pressure Research, of Stuart, Fla., listed assets of $889,-340 in 1951. In 1960, it was worth $7,862,130 book value and $10,072,364 market value.

The variety of assets held by tax exempt foundations is endless—everything from Russian rubles to race tracks to motion pictures. Loans to employes of the donor's private business, insurance policies on the life of the donor, mortgages, land, buildings, jewelry, art works—all are found in the collections of the foundations.

Here is a breakdown of the assets and net worth of the 534 foundations as of the close of 1960. Figures based on market value and the foundation's book value have been shown separately wherever available.

And yet, these foundations, which acquire a public status because of their exemption from taxes the rest of us pay, are virtually unregulated organizations on the same footing as private clubs or family companies. For all practical purposes, they are subject only to the authority of their own directors or trustees, who are not accountable to stockholders or to public regulatory agencies.

After the death of Edsel Ford in 1943, the Ford Foundation was used to save the Ford family from losing control of the Ford Motor Co. If not for the foundation device, they would have had to sell stock to the public long before they did in order to pay estate taxes. foundation permitted Henry Ford's heirs to run the company for many years without the inconvenience of answering to stockholders or the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Despite the incalculable contributions which the public makes to the foundations—in the form of tax exemption there is no assurance that the foundations will behave in accordance with public policy. In effect, they are independent entities that benefit from a form of "taxation without representation."

The following series of questions were posed to Internal Revenue Commissioner Mortimer Caplin. The answers show plainly how little control is exercised over tax-exempt foundations:

Q. Does the IRS provide the public with an opportunity to challenge the exempt status of an organization either before or after the exemption is granted?

A. There is no formal procedure for this purpose. We do, however, on occasion receive protests regarding pending or approved applications, and these are given thorough consideration.

Q. Under the code, are trustees of a tax-exempt foundation subject to any personal penalty, if they engage in prohibited transactions?

A. The code makes no provision for imposing a personal penalty against a trustee or trustees of a tax-exempt foundation if it engages in a prohibited transaction. Section 503 of the code does, however, provide for the denial of exemption of an organization engaging in a prohibited transaction and the taxation of its income for the taxable years after the year in which the organization is notified by the Secretary or his delegate that it engaged in a prohibited transaction.

Q. How much time is a foundation given to distribute each year's income?

A. No specific time is given a foundation in which to distribute each year's income. In effect, however, section 504 of the code limits the accumulation of income by providing for denial of exemption where accumulations of income not actually paid out for exempt purposes by the end of the year are unreasonable in amount or duration to carry out the functions constituting the basis for the organization's exempt status under section 501(c)(3) of the code.

Q. Is a foundation generally required to pay out all net income within a specified period of time after the close of the taxable year?

A. No. Generally speaking, a foundation is required to pay out its income in furtherance of its exempt purposes and to meet expenses, without being limited to a specified period of time within which to accomplish the same, and providing any accumulation is not unreasonable in amount or duration.

Q. Will the IRS deny exemption to a foundation solely on the ground that it is controlled by one family?

A. No. The Internal Revenue Service Code provides no basis upon which the Service may deny exemption to a foundation solely on the ground that it is controlled by one family.

Q. In what way, if any, does the code prohibit a donor or testator from transferring the controlling stock of a business to a foundation and have it (the foundation) hold the stock in perpetuity with self-perpetuating directors or trustees voting the stock as they please?

A. The code does not in any way prohibit an arrangement of this sort

Q. Does the code permit a board of trustees and officers of a foundation to be staffed by the founder, his family and associates?

A. Yes.

Q. May trustees and officers of foundations receive compensation?

A. They may receive compensation commensurate with services rendered.

Q. Is a foundation prohibited from making purchases of securities or other property from the founder, officers, or their families?

A. A foundation is not prohibited under the code from making purchases of securities or other property from the founder, officers, or their families unless the transaction is of the type prohibited by section 503 of the code.

There seems to be almost no limit to what the foundations can do.

In 1910, the Rockefeller family had a bill introduced in the Senate which would have granted a Federal charter to the Rockefeller Foundation. The bill provoked a storm of protests, on the grounds that it would increase the wealth and perpetuate the power of the Rockefellers.

President Schurman, of Cornell, himself a trustee of the Carnegie Foundation, at that time gave this description of the proposed Rockefeller charter:

"Under the terms of this broad charter there is scarcely anything which concerns the life and work of individuals or nations in which the Rockefeller Foundation would not be authorized to participate. As the safety of the State is the supreme condition of national civilization the foundation might in time of war use its income or its entire principal for the defense of the Republic. In time of peace it might use its funds to effect economic and political reforms which the trustees deem essential to the vitality and efficiency of the Republic. The foundation might become the champion of free trade or protection, of trusts, or of the competing concerns out of which they grow, of socialism or individualism, of the program of the Republican Party or the program of the Democratic Party. It might endow the clergy of all religious denominations, or it might subsidize any existing or any new religious denomination. Tomorrow it might be the champion of the Christian religion, and a hundred years hence furnish an endowment for the introduction of Buddhism into the United States. It might build tenement houses for the poor in New York City or carry the results of science to enrich the exhausted soils of the East or the arid tracts of the West. It might set up an art gallery in every State of the United States or endow universities which would rival the great State universities of the West. With the consent of the legislature it might relieve any State of the care of its insane, pauper, and dependent classes or construct roads for the benefit of farmers and motorists. These may not be likely objects for the application of the funds of the Rockefeller Foundation. I am not, however, attempting to forecast its work but to understand its charter.

"And, so far as I can see, the proposed charter would authorize all these and a multitude of similar activities. If the object of the Rockefeller Foundation is to be coextensive with human civilization, then it may do anything and everything which its trustees think likely to effect reform or improvement in the material, economic, intellectual, artistic, religious, moral, and political conditions of the American people or of mankind."

The Rockefeller bill was buried in the Senate.

Three years later, however, the foundation was incorporated under a State charter in New York. Since then, President Schurman's farsighted appraisal has come true.

The time has come, I think, to take a close look at the types of operations in which tax-exempt foundations are engaged. Already our survey indicates a number of apparent abuses or irregularities which would seem to conflict with the intent of Congress when it relieved certain institutions from the burden of taxation. An "agonizing reappraisal" is overdue.

FOUNDATION-CONTROLLED BUSINESSES

For example, at the close of 1960, the 534 foundations under study held over $7 billion (at market value) in the stock of over 2,000 different corporations.

As stated previously, to date we have found some 111 foundations, out of the 534 under study, owning 10 to 100 percent of at least one class of stock in one or more of 263 different corporations at the close of 1960.

Often, the foundation device permits its creator to retain control over business enterprises even though he has ostensibly "given it away." There may also be sizable tax advantages in such an arrangement.

A case that needs further study is that of the Howard Hughes Medical Institute, of Miami Beach, Fla. The Hughes case concerns three corporations—Hughes Tool Co., Hughes Aircraft Co., and Howard Hughes Medical Institute. All three are Delaware corporations. I shall refer to them as Toolco, Aircraft, and Institute, respectively.

In the beginning there was only Toolco. All of its stock is owned by Howard Hughes. On December 17, 1953, the Institute was incorporated, and it, in turn, on the same day, incorporated Aircraft.

The Institute's original name was H.H.M.I. Corp. It was changed to Howard Hughes Medical Institute on December 30, 1954. The Institute was organized primarily to do medical research. The charter puts control of management of the Institute in a single trustee. Howard Hughes is that trustee. He has life tenure and can name his successor.

On December 31, 1953, papers were executed involving the following series of steps:

(1) Toolco contributed to the Institute the patents, trademarks, and goodwill of Toolco's aircraft department, including the name Hughes Aircraft Co. These items were on Toolco's books for $37,000.

(2) Toolco leased to the Institute for 10 years and 6 months certain real estate of the aircraft department and certain tangible fixed assets costing Toolco $26 million. The rental was to be primarily the amount of depreciation Toolco is allowed for tax purposes on the leased assets. The lease is carried on the Institute's books at $1.

(3) Toolco sold to the Institute $74 million book value of assets of its aircraft department. These assets consisted primarily of cash, receivables on U.S. Government contracts, and inventories. Contracts with the U.S. Air Force were transferred by Toolco to the Institute. Toolco owed on these assets $56 million, most of which was for renegotiation of Government contract prices. To pay for the $74 million of assets, the Institute assumed the $56 million of liabilities, and gave Toolco a note for the balance of $18 million. The note was payable in 3 years with interest at 4 percent. The Institute put up all the Aircraft stock as collateral for the note.

(4) The Institute contributed to Aircraft the patents, trademarks, and goodwill that Toolco contributed to the Institute.

(5) The Institute subleased to Aircraft the assets the Institute leased from Toolco. The sublease term was likewise 10 years and 6 months. The sublease rent called upon Aircraft to pay an aggregate of $33,600,000, of which $4,700,000 a year was to be paid in the first 3 years, and $2,600,000 a year in the next 7½ years. These terms were patterned after terms Toolco had previously been negotiating with Lockheed, but that deal fell through.

(6) The Institute transferred to Aircraft the $74 million book value of assets bought from Toolco. Aircraft assumed the $56 million of liabilities that Toolco originally owed on those assets. For the other $18 million, Aircraft issued its stock to the Institute. Cutting through all of this paperwork, the Institute books showed the end of the road to be as follows: Its "capital" was the $37,000 initially contributed to it by Toolco. It carried at $1 the leasehold from Toolco. The Institute also had the Aircraft stock, carried at $18 million, but pledged against a corresponding note liability to Toolco of $18 million.

Here are some additional pertinent facts:

(7) Toolco claimed a tax deduction of $2 million in 1953 because of these transactions.

(8) On June 1, 1955, the Institute filed application for tax exemption. On November 29, 1955, the Internal Revenue Service denied the exemption on the grounds that the whole setup was merely a device for siphoning off otherwise taxable income to an exempt organization, and accumulating that income. On March 26, 1956, the Institute filed a protest to that ruling. On March 1, 1957, the Internal Revenue Service reversed itself, and gave the Institute taxexempt status.

The Howard Hughes Medical Institute filed corporate tax returns, Form 1120, for the years 1954 and 1955, and reported income thereon which in the case of a taxable entity would normally give rise to corporate income tax in the amount of $275,078 for the taxable year 1954, and corporate income taxes in the amount of $207,619 for the taxable year 1955. These returns were filed pending approval by the Internal Revenue Service of the Institute's application for tax exemption. When the Institute was granted tax exemption on March 1, 1957, it was made retroactive and, of course, no taxes were paid for the years 1954 and 1955.

(9) The $18 million note payable by the Institute to Toolco became due on December 31, 1956. It was not paid. Its maturity was extended from year to year, twice. On March 27, 1959, the Institute issued a new note due July 10, 1959. The new note bore 4½ percent interest, compared with 4 percent originally. The maturity date of the new note has been extended on a year-to-year basis ever since.

(10) In 1954 the Institute conducted negotiations with General Electric and Atlas Corp. for the sale of Aircraft stock. Both deals fell through. Had they been consumated, the Institute would have realized in excess of the $18 million carrying amount for the Aircraft stock. In both instances, at the insistence of the prospective buyers, the deal would have included the sale to the prospective buyers of the assets owned by Toolco, leased to the Institute, and subleased to Aircraft.

(11) From 1954 through 1961 the income and payouts of the Institute aggregated as follows:

	Amount	Percent
Rent collected under sublease to Aircraft	$26,000,000 11,000,000
Net rent	15, 000, 000 6, 000, 000	100 40
Available for institute use	9, 000, 000 5, 700, 000	60 37
Accumulated income	3, 300, 000	22

(12) During the same period, earnings after taxes accumulated at Aircraft in the amount of $76,955,000. No dividends were ever paid by Aircraft to the Institute. Adding the $3,300,000 directly accumulated income of the Institute to the $76,955,000 income indirectly accumulated through Aircraft makes $80,255,000 of accumulated income.

(13) Aircraft, throughout this period, was doing work primarily for the Government, under cost and fixed price contracts that were subject to renegotiation.

Those are the salient facts.

As I understand the law, a corporation, to be a tax-exempt charity, must be organized exclusively, and operated exclusively, for charitable purposes. So far as organization is concerned, the Institute charter says it is to be "primarily" for charity (medical research). It does not say "exclusively." I think there is a great difference. Since exemption from tax is involved, I believe it is necessary to meet every requirement literally. The Institute charter does not do this.

Now, how about operation exclusively as a charity? Does a charity start off with buying $75 million of commercial business assets and assuming liabilities of $56 million, plus becoming directly liable for $18 million on its own note? This sounds more like high finance to me than charity.

Furthermore, the Institute charter permits it to "receive and hold" assets. That is natural for a charity. It does not say it can "buy." The charter does authorize conducting a business, provided that the business is substantially related to the charitable purpose. No one will seriously contend that the business of Aircraft is substantially related to medical research.

As for the $56 million of liabilities assumed, those liabilities were then in turn assumed by Aircraft. However, the Institute still remained liable. I understand that most of the $56 million was paid off by Aircraft within 2 years. But suppose Aircraft had fallen on bad days. Is a charity justified in gambling that way?

Now for the $18 million note. It was payable in 3 years. Again, is a charity justified in jeopardizing itself with liabilities of this type and magnitude? The fact is that the Institute hasn't been able to pay the note, and has been carrying on only by grace of extensions by Toolco. The Institute may have thought it could sell the Aircraft stock and realize more than $18 million. But here again the fact is that the stock has not been sold, and the $18 million note is still a direct Institute liability.

It doesn't look to me, therefore, as if the Institute met the express requirements of the law that it be organized and operated exclusively for charitable purposes. Meantime, $3,300,000 of earnings have piled up in the Institute on which no tax has been paid, and Toolco has gotten a $2 million charity deduction that saved it over $1 million tax.

Another requirement for exemption is that no part of the earnings of the Institute must be for private benefit. Note, however, that of the net rentals of $15 million collected by Institute over the years, 40 percent or $6 million was washed back to Toolco as interest. It is true that Toolco became taxable on that interest, but that does not preserve the tax exemption of the Institute. When earnings inure to private benefit they are generally taxable. The law also then takes away exemption from the charity.

Let's take another approach. What were these in-andout transactions on December 31, 1953, all about? In its protest to the IRS, the Institute says that the whole idea was to put the Institute in a position whereby, through the lease from Toolco and sublease to Aircraft, the Institute would have an assured source of income to attract good medical research personnel. That may explain the leases, but how does it explain the other transactions and the institute going into direct and indirect debt for $75 million?
If charity were really the aim, wouldn't it be more natural for Toolco to transfer the $75 million assets, subject to the $56 million or even $75 million debts, to Aircraft in exchange for Aircraft stock, and then contribute the Aircraft stock to the Institute?

craft stock to the Institute?

In its protest to the IRS, the Institute says that it was important not to be dependent on the generosity of Toolco from year to year. With an $18 million note payable to Toolco, isn't the Institute still dependent on Toolco generosity in holding off on demand for payment? Furthermore, with Howard Hughes running both Toolco and the Institute, he can keep the Institute locked in that way as long as he wants.

I wonder whether the ring-around-rosy that took place on December 31, 1953, really didn't have something entirely different behind it, and that is, renegotiation. Through the lease and sublease, Aircraft wound up paying $15 million more in rent than Toolco would have had in depreciation and other charges for the leased assets if Toolco had stayed put. The $15 million will become a higher figure by the time the sublease expires. Aircraft has big contracts from the Government.

Wasn't the effect of these transactions to step up costs on Government contracts for Aircraft by this $15 million? To put it another way, by the steps taken on December 31, 1953, didn't Howard Hughes save $15 million from renegotiation? Instead of the $15 million going to the Government, $6 million went to Toolco for interest (of which the Government presumably got 52 percent in taxes), $5,700,000 went for medical research and administration expenses of Institute, and $3,300,000 is accumulated unspent and tax free in Institute.

In its protest to the IRS, the Institute says that the transactions had the effect of causing Toolco to pay more income tax rather than less. That point, even if true, pales into insignificance, if what I have just said about the renegotiation saving is in order.

Even on income taxes alone, and forgetting renegotiation, the point in the protest cannot stand up without some assumptions of dubious validity. Suppose nothing had been done on December 31, 1953, and that the resulting increased profit of Toolco had been contributed each year to Institute. The increased profit between 1954 and 1961 would be the $9 million shown in the Institute figures, plus all the profits of Aircraft. The tax saving would apply only if Toolco would have enough profit throughout the years to absorb that much of a charity deduction. Companies are limited on this to 5 percent of their income. On the other hand, by doing what was done, Toolco eliminated this hazard. The income was deflected to the Institute instead of coming through Toolco.

Furthermore, the direct accumulated income of the Institute would then be not only the $3,300,000, but also the $76,955,000 accumulated earnings of Aircraft. This would intensify the problem for the Institute about unreasonable accumulation of earnings. I will now discuss that problem.

The law denies exemption to certain charities that unreasonably accumulate income. The Institute contends it is not subject to this rule. This depends on whether the Institute is primarily a medical research organization, or whether because of the transactions described, it is something different.

If unreasonable accumulation is a factor, it seems to me that the Government is called upon to consider not only the $3 million, but also the $76,955,000 surplus in Aircraft. After all, Aircraft is the incorporated pocketbook of the Institute. Whether the surplus of Aircraft stays with Aircraft or goes to the Institute is up to the Institute, as sole stockholder of Aircraft. Certainly, Congress did not intend to permit, through the simple device of a 100 percent owned subsidiary, that there be an end run around the restriction on unreasonable accumulation of income.

It would also be in the public interest to determine whether, through Aircraft, there have been any transactions with Howard Hughes or his family, or Toolco, or its affiliates, that, if engaged in directly by the Institute, would be a "prohibited transaction" upsetting the exemption of the Institute.

Finally, suppose we assume that the Institute is in the clear on its exemption, and on any question of unreasonable accumulation of income or prohibited transactions. There is another factor that I think merits attention. The law says that exempt organizations must pay a tax on unrelated business income. The leasing to Aircraft is certainly unrelated to medical research. Rentals from real property are exempt from this tax. The Institute does not own real property. It merely owns a leasehold. That would make the $15 million net rentals between 1954 and 1961 taxable to the institute.

Even if real property were involved, I think there would still be a tax because the Aircraft sublease is a business lease and the Institute has indebtedness against it. While on paper there were separate transactions of gift, lease, and sale by Toolco to the institute, the tax law approaches things in a practical way. All transactions on December 31, 1953, were obviously a package deal, interdependent and concurrent. Accordingly, what really happened is that the Institute acquired the leasehold and the assets of Toolco's aircraft department for $74 million, and assumed indebtedness or became directly indebted for the same amount.

In other words, every asset acquired by the Institute carried with it a corresponding indebtedness. On this basis, it looks to me as if, at the outset, the Institute was taxable on 100 percent of the rental income. When the $56 million, or 75 percent of the indebtedness, was paid off, the Institute was taxable on 25 percent of the rental income. In figuring the rental income for this purpose, deduction would be permissible for the rentals and interest the Institute had to pay to get that income.

the Institute had to pay to get that income.

A list of Hughes Aircraft notes payable at the close of the years 1954-61 follows on page 78. Please note the 2 percent interest rate on the intercompany notes of Hughes Aircraft to Hughes Tool Co. as against the 4 to 5 percent interest rate on the notes payable to the bank.

POSSIBLE INFLUENCE ON CORPORATE POLICIES

The following are other examples of the sizable interests in large corporations held by foundations in 1960:

Seven Rockefeller-controlled foundations owned 7,891,567 shares of common stock of Standard Oil of New Jersey with a market value of $324,946,110. The same seven foundations owned 602,127 shares of the common stock of Socony Mobil Oil Co. with a market value of $23,610,770. Two Rockefeller foundations owned 306,013 shares of Continental Oil capital stock with a market value of $17,060,224 (the Rockefeller Foundation itself held 300,000 of these shares with a market value of $16,725,000); four Rockefeller foundations owned 468,135 shares of Ohio Oil common stock with a market value of $17,998,495; five Rockefeller foundations owned 1,256,305 shares of the common stock of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana with a market value of $59,736,991; and the Rockefeller Foundation, itself, owned 100,000 shares of the capital stock of Union Tank Car Co. with a market value of $3,100,000.

Two Du Pont-controlled foundations owned 6,931 shares of Christiana Securities Co. common stock with a market value of $83,856,650. The same foundations owned 358,105 shares of the common stock of Du Pont (E. I.) de Nemours & Co. with a market value of $20,413,237.

Six Mellon-controlled foundations held 120,294 shares of common stock of the Aluminum Co. of America with a market value of $8,270,213. The same six foundations held 3,729,933 shares of common stock of Gulf Oil Corp. with a market value of $124,516,536. The Sarah Mellon Scaife Foundation of Pittsburgh held 48,750 shares of capital class A stock of the First Boston Corp. with a market value of $3,205,313.

During the years 1955 through 1959, three Mellon-controlled foundations, the Avalon Foundation, of New York City, the Old Dominion Foundation, of New York City, Richard King Mellon Foundation of Pittsburgh—as substantial stockholders in a number of banks—were parties to the liquidation of some 15 banks in Pennsylvania, mostly, aside from Pittsburgh, in small towns such as Braddock, Pa., Butler, Pa., Washington, Pa., Latrobe, Pa., Ligonier, Pa., Sewickley, Pa., New Kensington, Pa., Charleroi, Pa., Ellwood City, Pa., Donora, Pa., Waynesburg, Pa., Wilkinsburg, Pa., Uniontown, Pa., and Connellsville, Pa.

The Herbert H. and Grace A. Dow Foundation, of Midland, Mich., owned 645,238 shares of the common stock of Dow Chemical Co., with a market value of $48,150,886.

The Howard Heinz Endowment, of Pittsburgh, held 314,104 shares of the common stock of H. J. Heinz Co. with a market value of $42,561,092.

The Timken Foundation, of Canton, Ohio, owned 427,760 shares of the common stock of Timken Roller Bearing Co. with a market value of $20,532,480.

The Charles A. Dana Foundation, of Greenwich, Conn., held 500,000 shares of the common stock of Dana Corp. with a market value of $16 million.

According to our records, the Gulf Oil Foundation, of Houston, a company foundation created by the Gulf Oil Corp., submitted an application for tax exemption to the IRS on May 21, 1961. Two months later, on July 28, 1961, the IRS granted it tax exemption.

When Gulf Oil organized this foundation, it turned over to the foundation 100 percent of the voting common stock of Pontiac Refining Corp., of Corpus Christi, Tex., valued at $32 million.

During 1960, its first year of operation, the Gulf Oil Foundation had income of $750,000 and only disbursed $380,000 for the purposes for which it was granted tax exemption.

Have we not reached the point where policies of a substantial part of our commercial enterprises are being influenced by tax-exempt foundations?

FOUNDATIONS AS MONEY LENDERS

Moneylending is another area of foundation activity that poses grave problems. The foundations seem to have gone into the moneylending business in a big way. Their tax returns for 1960 show outstanding notes and accounts receivable of over $145 million. Their notes receivable are, no doubt, considerably higher today. As of February 1, 1962, the Ford Foundation alone held notes receivable totaling $240,431,000 from 61 borrowers, as shown on schedule 4, p. 83–84.

Some of the Ford Foundation's loans raise serious questions of policy.

I have already referred to the $33 million the foundation loaned overseas during the 1961 balance-of-payments crisis. This, in effect, amounted to a Government subsidy being used, without Government control, in operations in conflict with government policy. Treasury Secretary Dillon on May 17, 1962, warned that the mounting flood of European bond issues sold in the U.S. capital markets is undermining our Government's efforts to defend the dollar. Precisely such an outflow of dollars—to industrial nations like France, Belgium, and Canada—was involved in the Ford Foundation's loans, as shown on schedule 4, p. 83–84.

The Ford Foundation loans to foreign corporations and governments create a somewhat bewildering paradox. Our Government brought home soldiers' families so as to save dollars overseas. Yet the Ford Foundation exported $33 million in the year 1961. Also, in 1960 the Ford Motor Co. arranged to export $358 million to purchase minority stockholdings in British Ford which they already controlled.

The result was that a substantial part of the dollars we saved by separating our soldiers from their families was sent back overseas by the Ford Foundation and the Ford Motor Co. And the irony is that the Ford Foundation operates on a subsidy from the taxpayers—in the form of tax exemption.

Moreover, we do not know the purpose of the Ford Foundation loans to the foreign corporations and governments. For example, if the loans are used by foreign businesses—which are not bound by our antitrust statutes—to help them gain entry to our market, those foreign firms have a great competitive advantage. Trade practices in the United States and the Common Market are quite different. In Europe, an industry cartel can cut up the U.S. market, assigning to certain members exclusive territorial rights in certain sections of the country. Our firms cannot do this without facing violation of our antitrust laws. Hence, the Ford Foundation's loans could conceivably be helping our competitors who are not bound by the Sherman Act, the Robinson-Patman Act, etc.

Some Ford Foundation loans were made at what appear to be preferential rates of interest. Why, for example, was the Duke Power Co., of Charlotte, N.C., charged only 2.65 percent interest on a $3 million, 20-year loan, while other borrowers paid 6½ percent? Duke Power, incidentally, is owned 57 percent by Duke Endowment, another tax-exempt foundation.

The Ford Foundation's lending activities have not only put it into unfair competition with private lenders but they have also given the foundation an element of influence over a wide range of business ventures.

Chris-Craft Corp., the New York, New Haven & Hartford, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, and Chesapeake & Ohio Railroads, Continental Air Lines, Standard Oil of California, Shell Caribbean Petroleum Co., El Paso Natural Gas Co. are among the foundation's many debtors.

Through a $7.5 million loan to a group headed by Lowell Thomas, the Ford Foundation has influence in radio and TV stations in Buffalo, N.Y., and Paterson, N.J.

Also, the Ford Foundation and others are constantly extending their influence over educational television. During 1962, the Ford Foundation donated $2 million to Educational Television for the Metropolitan Area, Inc., to help it buy station WNTA-TV in New York. The following describes the grants made by other foundations in connection with the acquisition of station WNTA-TV.

Rockefeller Brothers Fund	$500,000
Avalon Foundation	250,000
Carnegie Foundation	200,000
Arthur Curtiss James Foundation	100,000
Alfred P. Sloan Foundation	200,000
New York Foundation	100,000
George P. Baker Foundation	25,000

Other tax-exempt foundations have made loans that hardly seem in accordance with the purposes for which they were granted tax exemption.

Gerber Baby Foods Fund, of Fremont, Mich., loaned $44,357 to Nunn-Bush Shoe Co. at interest of 31/4 to 31/8 percent.

The Fred L. Emerson Foundation, of Auburn, N.Y., made what appears to be virtually a perpetual loan of $175,000 to the Enna Jettick Corp. in 1951. Only three payments had been made on the demand note by 1960, and the balance outstanding was still $125,000.

The Ekco Foundation, of Chicago, in 1950 had outstanding loans of more than $70,000 to a dozen employes of Ekco Products Co. at interest ranging from 21/2 to 4 percent. Two of the loans were still unpaid in 1960,

The following are among the items that appear on the balance sheet of the National Machinery Foundation, of Tiffin, Ohio, as of December 31, 1960:

Loan receivable from Mitchell Steel Co., secured by real property, machinery, and equipment. Principal and interest payable in monthly installments of $2,380.96 through July 1969; $1,785.72 August 1969 to July 1970; $1,250.00 August 1970 to July 1979; and $165,714.29 on Aug. 31, 1979_

$231, 099, 70 Notes receivable, the Anaheim Co., at cost: 5 percent mortgage notes (face amount plus accrued interest to Dec. 31, 1960, $282,625) Unsecured notes (face amount plus accrued interest to Dec. 31, 1960, $180,000)

Since 1956, the Bodman Foundation, of New York City, has been reporting on each year's balance sheet an asset item for $1 million and describing it as follows: "Cyrus J. Lawrence & Sons, loan agreement interest at 6 percent." The loan, the auditors say, is in accordance with an agreement dated May 31, 1956.

The balance sheet of Whitney Benefits, of Sheridan, Wyo., shows total assets of $1,811,318 (book value) as of December 31, 1960. Of this amount $935,537 was loaned to 46 borrowers, secured by real estate mortgages. In other words, 50 percent of the foundation's assets are being used to make real estate loans.

The foundation reported $84,429 income for the year 1960; $51,008 of this income was derived from its moneylending; another $5,123 came from the operation of a ranch. As of December 31, 1960, the foundation reported accumulated income of $1,003,026.23.

The Arthur Jordan Foundation, of Indianapolis, has carried substantial amounts of accounts receivable throughout the fiscal years ending March 31, 1952, to March 31, 1961. Forms 1041-A tax returns submitted to us do not explain the nature of these accounts receivable. In addition, substantial reserves for bad debts have been set up against these receivables, as indicated below:

Year	Accounts receivable	Reserve
Mar. 31, 1952	1,373,766 1,596,477	$544, 665 379, 339 307, 319 3, 016 115, 000 115, 000 115, 000 115, 000 115, 000

BUSINESS DEALINGS WITH DONORS

Other foundations have been used to pay benefits to employees of a private company. The Harnischfeger Foundation, Inc., of Milwaukee, has regularly contributed sums from $100 to $10,000 to employee organizations of the Harnischfeger Corp. From 1952 to 1958, the Harnischfeger Employees Benefit Association received $40,500 from the foundation. The benefit association, the foreman's club, the engineers club, and the trap club all benefited from the foundation's largesse in 1959. Mr. Walter Harnischfeger, himself, received a loan of $40,000 at 4 percent interest in 1955 from the foundation.

Our survey has turned up other examples of business dealings between a tax-exempt foundation and its creator, his family, his employees, or his business.

The Hudson-Webber Foundation, of Detroit, for example, was created in 1943 to provide relief for needy employees and former employees of the J. L. Hudson Co. and their dependents. In the 10-year period under study, the foundation's accumulated income (the excess of receipts over outgo) rose from $1.5 million to $3.3 million. This growth has apparently never been questioned by the Internal Revenue Service, despite the prohibition against an unreasonable accumulation of income. Among the foundation's assets there are sizable holdings of mortgages, land contracts, and eight life insurance policies, face value of $218,225, on the life of Richard H. Webber. Mr. Webber was an officer, director, and stockholder of the J. L. Hudson Co. Prior to the transfer of the insurance policies to the foundation, the J. L. Hudson Co. was the beneficiary; after the transfer, the foundation became the beneficiary

A related foundation, the Eloise and Richard Webber Foundation, of Detroit, bought 150,000 shares of J. L. Hudson Co. stock for $1.8 million from Richard H. Webber in 1947. The foundation gave Mr. Webber a note, on which payments were regularly made. The note was paid off in 1959.

In 1955, the Eloise and Richard Webber Foundation loaned executives of the J. L. Hudson Co. $64,800 to buy stock in the company. These loans were paid off in 1960.

In 1944, the foundation purchased from Eloise J. Webber life insurance policies totaling $359,649 on the life of Richard H. Webber. Instead of cash, the foundation gave Mrs. Webber a note for $245,166, the cash surrender value of the policies at the time of sale. No payments on the note were made until 1952. Since then, $134,544 of the debt has been written off, leaving a balance as of December 31, 1960, of $110,622. The foundation listed the payments as cancellation and surrender of notes given to Eloise Webber for the purchase of a life insurance policy on the life of Richard Webber. The foundation has regularly paid the premiums and collected the dividends on the policies.

Originally, the policies on the life of Mr. Richard H. Webber named Mrs. Webber as the beneficiary, and the policies on the life of Mrs. Richard H. Webber named their three children as beneficiaries. After the transfer to the Eloise and Richard Webber Foundation, the foundation became the beneficiary.

The 1907 Foundation of New York City has loaned money to certain wholly owned subsidiary corporations of Service Plants Corp. (formerly Associated Managers, Inc.). Service Plants Corp. and certain of its subsidiary corporations (Seebee Corp. and Jefferson Chicago Co.) are contributors to the foundation. The loans were evidenced by notes payable in annual installments equal to 10 percent of the face amount of the notes and were callable by the foundation upon 90 days' notice. Interest was payable quarterly. The notes were secured by the guarantee and accommodation endorsement of Service Plants Corp. The consolidated net worth of Service Plants Corp. during the existence of the loans exceeded $10 million.

Details of the individual notes are as follows:

Borrower: Seebee Corp., 331 East 38th Street, New  ${f Y}$ ork.

Date of loan: June 30, 1955. Interest rate: 4 percent. Amount of loan: $500,000.

Year repaid: 1957.

Borrower: Jefferson Chicago Co., 601 West Harrison

Street, Chicago, Ill.

Date of loan: December 31, 1956.

Interest rate: 4 percent. Amount of loan: $200,000.

Year repaid: 1959.

Borrower: Laplant Co., Los Angeles, Calif.

Date of loan: August 30, 1957. Interest rate: 5 percent. Amount of loan: $180,000. Year repaid: 1959.

On December 31, 1960, the 1907 Foundation owned 60.34 percent of the 5 percent nonvoting cumulative preferred stock of the Parmac Corp., 331 East 38th Street, New York. The Parmac Corp. is a holding company of United Parcel Service of America, Inc.

On December 31, 1960, the J. M. Kaplan Fund, Inc., of New York, held notes receivable totaling $1,944,359.93, among which were the following items:

J. M. Kaplan J. M. Kaplan Etched Products Corp		$720, 9 6 7, 75,
Total	1	769	000

The J. M. Kaplan notes were transferred to the fund as contributions in 1944 and 1953. The $720,000 note is dated December 26, 1944, and the $967,000 note is dated May 15, 1953. No interest is payable on either note; nor is there any collateral. Both notes mature on the death of Mr. The fund's 1952 tax return shows a con-J. M. Kaplan.

tribution received from Jemkap, Inc., total $967,000. On December 29, 1960, the Kaplan Fund made an exchange of stock with the Albert A. List Foundation, Inc., of Byram, Conn., whereby the fund received 126,000 shares of Glen Alden in exchange for 54,000 shares of Endicott Johnson Corp. The Endicott Johnson shares were used by Mr. Albert A. List in his unsuccessful attempt to acquire control of the Endicott Johnson Corp. No capital gain or loss schedule appears on the J. M. Kaplan's Fund 1960 tax return with respect to this exchange of December 29, 1960.

The Etched Products note was originally a mortgage loan of $400,000 made some time prior to 1954. In 1954, the stock of Etched Products Corp. (not owned by the J. M. Kaplan Fund, Inc.) was sold, at a time when Etched Products was in financial difficulties, to its principal competitor, Electro-Chemical & Engraving Corp., which was a strong, solvent company. In connection with this transaction, the mortgage lien was released, in exchange for certain contractual advantages, and the loan itself was guaranteed by Mr. J. M. Kaplan. The principal has since been reduced from $400,000 to $75,000.

In 1957, the Rosamond Gifford Charitable Corp., of Syracuse, N.Y., paid $1,654,756 to the estate of Rosamond Gifford to help pay a Federal estate tax deficiency assessed by the Internal Revenue Service. In 1959, the Gifford estate repaid the sum to the Rosamond Gifford Charitable

Among the assets of the Kresge Foundation, of Detroit, in 1951, were 30,000 shares of stock in Kresge-Newark, Inc., book value $3 million, a gift from S. S. Kresge, the founder. In 1957, the foundation loaned $700,000 to Kresge-Newark. In 1960, $300,000 was still due on the loan. As of December 31, 1960, the Kresge Foundation owned 100 percent of the capital voting stock of Kresge-Newark, Inc.

L. E. Phillips Charities, Inc., of Eau Claire, Wis., has engaged in a variety of business transactions with its creators. In 1952, the foundation sold stock worth $33,600 in Vick Chemical Co. to L. E. Phillips. The same year it paid $1,082,250 for stock in Ed Phillips & Sons Co., another contributor. In 1953, the foundation bought and sold several thousand shares of National Pressure Cooker stock in transactions with L. E. Phillips. In 1954, the foundation sold shares in National Presto Industries, Inc., to the creator's relatives, and bought National Presto shares from them. In 1955, the foundation sold shares of American Tobacco and Reynolds Tobacco to L. E. Phillips. In 1957, 1959, and 1960, shares of various securities, including Vick Chemical, Gillette Co., Hershey Chocolate, and others, were traded with L. E. Phillips and relatives.

One of the weaknesses in the present law is that it apparently permits a donor to repurchase assets.

Our records disclose that the Dorothy H. and Lewis Rosenstiel Foundation, 359 Fifth Avenue, New York City, contributed $1 million to Brandeis University with an agreement to repurchase securities which were part of the transaction. The Rosenstiel Foundation transaction is as follows:

In 1955, the foundation appropriated $1 million to be contributed to Brandeis University for the establishment of a science research center. The appropriation was shown as a grant made during 1955 on the foundation's tax return for that year.

In 1956, the contribution was made by transfer of cash in the amount of $300,000 and 33,039 shares of capital stock of Schenley Industries, Inc., having a market value of $700,013.81 (cost per books,

On March 19, 1956, Brandeis University entered into an agreement with third parties, which stipulated that the securities received would be offered to the Dorothy H. and Lewis Rosenstiel Foundation at the market price at date of grant, prior to sale or other disposal of such securities by Brandeis University.

In 1958 the foundation agreed to repurchase Schenley Industries, Inc., common stock from Brandeis University, beneficial owner, under a voting Trust agreement, dated March 19, 1956, up to a total of $172,000. The $172,000 was to be paid to Brandeis University in four equal installments of $43,000 beginning in January 1959 and ending in April 1959.

In 1959 the foundation agreed to repurchase additional Schenley Industries, Inc., stock from Brandeis University, up to a total of $100,000. In November 1959, $50,200 was paid for 3,100 shares of Schenley Industries, Inc., common stock. The balance of $49,800 was to be paid in March 1960 for 3,077 shares of Schenley Industries, Inc., common stock and 246 shares of the new series A, $0.35 par, cumulative preference stock distributed as a stock dividend on February 10, 1960.

On March 22, 1961, the foundation agreed to, and did, repurchase an additional 6,203 shares of Schenley Industries, Inc., common stock and 992 shares of Schenley Industries, Inc., cumulative convertible preference stock from Brandeis University for a total of $100,000. As of December 31, 1960, the Dorothy H. and Lewis Rosenstiel Foundation owned 7.64 percent of Schenley Industries common par $1.40 and 7.64 percent of the cumulative convertible preference par $0.35.

In 1961, when the Ford Motor Co. was seeking to acquire Philco Corp., it needed to lay its hands on more than 1 million shares of Ford stock to trade for 4.1 million shares of Philco common stock. Where did the company go to get the stock? To the Ford Foundation, to which the Ford family had previously given 89 percent of the total number of shares outstanding of the Ford Motor Co. The company paid the foundation $100,719,250 in cash for the stock, or $94.75 a share (Ford Motor Co. common stock closed at $98.875 on September 12, 1961, the day before the contract was executed), far above the $52 a share at which it was carried on the foundation's books. Nevertheless, this amounted to a retrieval, by the Ford family—through Ford Motor Co.—of a sizable portion of the contributions they had once made to the foundation. What is given, apparently, may sometimes be taken back. Of course, the foundation paid no capital gains tax on the doubled value of its Ford Motor Co. stock.

On May 16, 1956, the Sodak Co., a corporation in which Mr. Sterling Morton, the creator of the Morton Fund, of Chicago, owned 50 percent or more of the voting stock, purchased from the Morton Fund 300 shares of the Sodak Co. class B common stock at $480.60 per share. The stock was donated to the foundation by Mr. Morton on February 3, 1953.

In 1953, the EPH Foundation, of Detroit and Fort Wayne, Ind., loaned $400,000 to Mr. A. E. Holton, President of the foundation, in return for a note bearing 334 percent interest. In 1955, Mr. Holton repaid $200,000, and in 1956 the interest on the balance was raised to 4 percent. In 1957, Mr. Holton borrowed another $50,000. The entire loan was paid off in 1958.

On December 12 to December 22, 1954, the Cummings Foundation, of Chicago, purchased securities from Mr. Nathan Cummings, Chairman of Consolidated Foods Corp., and creator of the Cummings Foundation. The purchase consisted of 3,100 shares of common stock of Standard Brands, Inc., at his (the contributor's) cost of $110,545.50. The foundation sold these shares in the same month for $119,580.

On August 3, 1955, this foundation purchased securities from Mr. Nathan Cummings consisting of 2,000 shares of Callahan Zinc & Lead Co., at his cost of $10,200. The foundation disposed of these securities in 1955 for $11,549.

On August 17, 1956, this foundation purchased securities from Mr. Nathan Cummings consisting of 1,000 shares of common stock of Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc., at his cost of $24,144. In 1956, the foundation sold these securities for $27,270.

In June, 1960, Mrs. Nathan Cummings purchased from the foundation 119 shares of common stock of Consolidated Foods Corp. at $29 per share.

Mr. John L. Morehead, Vice Chairman of the board of trustees of the John Motley Morehead Foundation, of New York City and Charlotte, N.C., has a rather unique arrangement with the foundation. He gets a commission of 2 percent of all income from cash dividends and interest received by the foundation, plus a salary of $5,000 per year.

The International Harvester Foundation, of Chicago, offers another example of founder-creator business dealings. In 1958, the International Harvester Credit Corp., a wholly owned subsidiary of the International Harvester Co., the creator of this foundation, sold to the foundation commercial discount notes in the amount of $877,607 (par value $900,000). The notes were redeemed in 1958 and 1959 upon maturity.

Our survey is the most complete and comprehensive analysis of the assets of a substantial group of tax exempt foundations ever collected in one place. And still, it represents only a small part of the real total.

Schedule 7 is a State-by-State breakdown of the foundations under study, showing the number of foundations in each State, their total receipts, their expenses and disbursements, their total assets, and their net worth.

FOOTNOTES

¹ The foundations' assets consist of a variety of investments other than securities. Land, real estate, inventories, equipment, patents, insurance policies, works of art, etc., are examples of assets owned by the foundations, and their market valuation may be considerably greater than the book values indicated by the foundations and used herein.

etc., are examples of assets owned by the foundations, and their market valuation may be considerably greater than the book values indicated by the foundations and used herein.

*Wherever market values were submitted, the valuations are as of the dates shown in columns 4, 5, and 7. The market valuation of investments generally is as of the same date as the foundation's accounting year end. In cases where these dates are not identical, the market valuation made available by the foundation at a date closest to their accounting year end is used and the date identified.

4 Some of the foundations submitted balance sheets which do not clearly show any demarcation between liabilities and net worth. Sometimes the various categories are summarized as "Total Liabilities" and this total equals the foundation's total assets. In most such instances, the Committee has not attempted to reclassify items which appear to be of "Net Worth" nature but which have been classified as a liability by the foundation.

Educational Testing Service failed to show gross sales less cost of sales or of operations.

This foundation became part of Hunt Foods & Industries Foundation in 1959.

Represents 28,499 shares of Gordon Baking Co, capital stock. The market valuation of the shares is based on the foundation's equity in the book value of the company's underlying net assets at July 31, 1960.

Includes $9,251,000 as equity per books of 5 wholly owned companies at Dec. 31, 1960.

Book values of securities as of July 31, 1960, were not submitted by the foundation.

$11,000,000 of the shares is based on the foundation in 1959, at Dec. 31, 1960.

Book values of securities as of July 31, 1960, were not submitted by the foundation.

$1,000,000 of the shares is based on the foundation in 1959, at Dec. 31, 1960.

If The market values of the Ford Foundation securities would be much higher if its holdings of Ford Motor Co. class A stock were appraised at the market price of Ford Motor Co. common stock. No market price is quoted for the class A stock but it can be converted or exchanged on a share-for-share basis under certain conditions into the company's common stock with the same dividend rate. On Sept. 30, 1960, the end of the Ford Foundation's fiscal year, the closing price of the common stock was $64.25 per share. Thus, the Ford Foundation's 31,910,296 shares of class A stock had a value of $2,050,236,518 as compared with $1,499,783,912 based on the equity value of $47 per share which is shown in the Ford Foundation's balance sheet for fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1960. If the foundation had shown the Ford Motor Co. class A stock and other securities at market values on Sept. 30, 1960, the total assets of the foundation would have been at least $2,745,961,689.

On Apr. 24, 1962, the foundation sold 2,250,000 shares of the stock at $97 per share for a total of $218,250,000.

Total assets do not include assets estimated at $900,000 which were willed to the foundation by George L. Hartford. Pending completion of the administration of Mr. Hartford's estate, the foundation has carried its interest in Four Trust Remainders at a nominal value of $1 each.

Paintings and other works of art loaned to museums for exhibition purposes or held in temporary storage in the aggregate amount of $23,336,671 are not carried in the foundation's balance sheet.

In Includes $800,000 as the foundation's estimated value of oil leases at Dec. 31, 1960. Such leases were recorded by the foundation at $1.

Consists solely of 2,900 shares of Miller Brewing Co. stock. Market value is based on the sale of 3,555 shares of Miller Brewing Co. common stock at approximately $4,000 per share in December 1961.

Chapter IV

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

Never before have the economic factors of the complex and rapidly expanding foundation business been put under the microscope of public scrutiny. We have already laid the groundwork for other phases of our study.

The areas of special interest—that is, the unfinished business—include the subjects discussed in this chapter as well as those on page 16. Still other areas may be set up for examination on the basis of information gathered as the study progresses.

STOCK MARKET TRANSACTIONS OF THE FOUNDATIONS UNDER STUDY-THEIR ROLE IN THE SHARP BREAK OF

The purpose is to assess the role of the tax-free foundations in the market tumble of 1962—in other words, to determine to what extent, if any, foundation traders helped trigger the stock market plunge of 1962, and profited later by purchasing stocks at lower prices. There is general agreement that bearish influences began to appear several months prior to May 28.

What is the impact on small business? Basically, it is because sharp market declines—such as that of 1962—work a hardship on many small companies. Lack of stock financing limits opportunities for such businesses and slows down their expansion plans.

There is no supervision over foundations' financial transactions. Foundations, unlike certain other institutional investors, have no legal restrictions on their actions. For example, under the laws of many States, life insurance companies are prohibited from putting more than 5 percent of their total assets into equities; nor can they own more than 2 percent of any company's outstanding shares.

To date, examination of the stock selling of only 38 of the 500 foundations under study discloses a substantial amount of market activity by them during the period of December 1, 1961-July 1, 1962. These 38 organizations including 10 Rockefeller-controlled foundations, 5 Carnegie foundations, and 5 Mellon-controlled foundations (see p. 131 for their names, sales, and capital gains)—tossed $145,622,000 worth of common and preferred stocks into the market during the 7-month period, showing capital gains of $73,440,000. Their stock sales and capital gains or losses are as follows:

1 Excludes sales of unlisted stocks, fractional shares, stocks called, and liquidating distributions. Arranged alphabetically by stocks sold.

The largest single transaction is the Rockefeller Foundation's unpublicized sale of 1 million shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey common stock on February 23, 1962, for $52,250,000, showing a capital gain of $47,013,093. (See p. 132.) Also, during May 16-21, 1962, the Rockefeller Brothers Fund sold 20,000 shares of the same stock for $1,063,170, showing a profit of $315,551. (See p. 132.)

Additionally, 8 other organizations—of the 38—including 6 Rockefeller-controlled foundations, sold 22,446 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey for $1,201,813, showing a capital gain of $486,906. (See p. 132.) Standard Oil of New Jersey is one of the key stocks on the big board.

Other sizable sales by individual foundations include those shown on pages 130-131.

Some of the practices which I criticized in my reports of July 23 and August 20 are again appearing in this phase of the study. For example, I suggested—in my report of July 23—that "many foundations have become a vehicle for trading in securities and dodging the capital gain tax." On July 23, I cited the Lillia Babbitt Hyde Foundation of New York City as an example of "speculation in securities—with stocks and bonds being bought and sold during the same year and sometimes within a matter of a few days." I had said that—during the period of 1951 through 1960—the Hyde Foundation sold at least $42 million in securities, showing a capital gain of over $5.7 million. Now, examination of the 1961 tax return of the same foundations shows that, during 1961, the foundation's securities sales totaled $16,369,481 with a profit of $1,438,954. In a number of instances, the foundation bought and sold securities during the same month. The 1961 tax return does not indicate the exact selling dates; it only gives the month and year.

Capital gains of foundations are not only tax exempt but they are permitted to place them in the principal account instead of the income account.

In my report of July 23, I cited market speculation by certain foundations as one of the justifications for urging a moratorium on the granting of further tax exemptions to foundations until Congress has an opportunity to consider and develop new law and procedures to fit present-day economic circumstances and needs. I stated that stock market excesses by foundations—"with huge untaxed funds at their disposal—poses some big questions in the light of the recent sharp breaks in the market," and in my view, "tax-exempt foundations—all of whom are supported by the taxpayers—should not be permitted to use public funds for speculation in the stock market. Their mistakes or misfortunes are too likely to have a disastrous effect on millions of our citizens."

Were the 534 foundations under study net sellers or buyers? This will not be known for several months. We will have the answer when we finish our study. In the case of the Rockefeller Foundation, its total stock sales were $52,250,000 and stock purchases were $23,379,606 during the 7-month period. Pittsburgh Plate Glass Foundation sold stock for $2,829,269.50 and bought none. The Weyerhaeuser Co. Foundation, of Tacoma, Wash., sold $763,975 worth of stock and bought $59,112.

Another area that needs examination is foundation credit arrangements in the purchase of securities.

INTERLOCK

We shall examine possible conflict of interest between the advisory roles the individuals hold as trustees, directors, or officers and their private financial and business interests.

The possibility of interlock between foundation directors, their investment counsels, and brokers is a matter that requires examination. Such a situation could not only raise conflict-of-interest problems but would allow a tightly knit group to operate with great power.

EXPENSES AND DISBURSEMENTS

There is also a need for an analysis in depth of foundation expenses—including administrative and operating expenses—as well as contributions, gifts, grants, scholarships, etc., paid out. We hope to develop some illuminating data.

Chapter V

RECOMMENDATIONS

A number of reforms are vital. We must start with the fact that when an organization is tax exempt, it means that all other taxpayers must pick up the tab. Correspondingly, when any taxpayer reduces his tax by a deduction for contribution to a foundation, it means that all other taxpayers must make up for that tax reduction.

Tax exemption is a costly thing. It explains in part why only one-third of the income of the Nation is actually taxed.

Now the people are demanding that we have a tax law that deals with this area in a fair and forthright way and leaves no holes for playing fast and loose. The following are some of the problems that need to be dealt with as well as my recommendations:

1. In my view, consideration should be given to a limitation of 25 years on the life of foundations instead of permitting them to exist in perpetuity.

The late Julius Rosenwald, creator of the Julius Rosenwald Fund, expressed his views on this subject as follows:

"I am not in sympathy with this policy of perpetuating endowments and believe that more good can be accomplished by expending funds as Trustees find opportunities for constructive work than by storing up large sums of money for long periods of time. By adopting a policy of using the Fund within this generation, we may avoid those tendencies toward bureaucracy and a formal or perfunctory attitude toward the work which almost inevitably develop in organizations which prolong their existence indefi-nitely. Coming generations can be relied upon to provide for their own needs as they arise.
"In accepting the shares of stock now offered, I ask that the Trustees do so with the understanding that the entire fund in the hands of the Board, both income and principal, be expended within twenty-five years of the time of my death."

I believe that all foundations and charitable trusts should be obliged to distribute to charities and beneficiaries such amounts of the income and principal of such foundation or trust each year as will result in the complete distribution of all assets, holdings and interest of such foundation or trust at the end of 25 years of its existence.

Such a time limitation will tend to redistribute the control of American industry among wider groups in the population and return public funds to the Government if they are not distributed.

2. Tax-exempt foundations should be prohibited from engaging in business directly or indirectly.

Foundations controlling corporations engaged in business, through the extent of stockownership in those corporations, should themselves be deemed to be engaged in that business.

3. Commercial money lending and borrowing by foundations should be banned.

4. Arms-length relationships should be enforced. A foundation should not be permitted to use its funds to grant benefits to a controlled company's employees. This is quite a competitive advantage.

5. Foundation or donor solicitation or acceptance of contributions from suppliers or users of goods or services should be prohibited.

6. A foundation should not be in the position of exercising control over any corporation, directly or indirectly. In my view, all foundations should be limited to ownership of no more than 3 percent of the stock of a corporation and should not be allowed to vote stock.

7. Standards should be established with respect to foundation behavior in a proxy fight.

8. Another area that needs consideration is that of investments. There is a sharp difference between investing in securities and speculating or trading in securities. In other words, there is a difference between being a passive investor and an active securities merchant or gambler.

No one has yet devised a sure-fire way to beat the stock market. Losses, of course, cannot find their way into charity or other purposes for which a foundation is granted tax exemption. Our study shows sizable stock market losses for a number of foundations during the 10-year period of 1951 through 1960. Did the directors or trustees reimburse those foundations for I believe that the answer would be such losses? negative.

Income from trading or speculating in securities, as distinguished from passive investment, should be treated as unrelated business income, and taxed.

As I understand the Revenue Act of 1962, self-employed people are permitted to set up limited retirement funds, but the nature of those funds is carefully prescribed and goes primarily to insurance annuities, bank custodial arrangements, or special government bonds. Investment limitations or regulations are far more needed for foundations. Tax exemption is a very costly thing to taxpayers, and they are entitled to freedom from abuse.

Income derived from assets acquired by having the foundation incur substantial obligations to make the acquisition should also be taxed.

Charity should be the antithesis of commercial business or gambling. Wherever, therefore, a foundation engages in those activities, the results of those activities should be taxed as with any taxpayer. Furthermore, if those activities are of sufficient magnitude or frequency to be significant, then the organization should lose its tax exempt status altogether.

9. Is the tax law sound in permitting a deduction for charity to a person who merely transfers funds to a foundation that he himself controls, where the money has not as yet reached actual operating charities?

In my view, a contributor should not be allowed a deduction for payments to a foundation that he controls until the foundation actually uses the money for charity. The foundation should be recognized as being the alter ego of the controlling contributor. Income earned by the foundation should be taxable to the controlling contributor until put to charitable use.

These principles can be implemented by treating controlled foundations the way the tax law now does trusts (Subchapter J, Chapter 1, Internal Revenue Code).

A controlled foundation would be one where the contributor or parties related, subordinate, or subservient to him have dominion or control over the foundation. It would include foundations where they have significant administrative powers, or the power to determine the charitable beneficiaries, or to run the board of the foundation. It would also include foundations that have a significant percentage of stockownership in companies in which they have an interest, or in which they receive personal benefits, like using the foundation stock for company control.

All foundations controlled by the same individual, family, or company should be treated as one, in determining whether control exists or whether the foundations have been used for personal advantage.

10. Exemption should be denied if a foundation has been formed or availed of for tax avoidance purposes or to get financial benefits for the contributor. Conversely, a controlled corporation should not be allowed a contribution to a foundation, but instead the payment should be considered as a dividend to the controlling stockholder where the amount is significant and the foundation is unrelated to the business purpose of the corporation.

The tax law says that a foundation's earnings may not inure to the benefit of any private individual. It should be made clear that "individual" includes corporations and trusts.

Contributions made by a foundation in the name of a controlling individual, or in relief of a controlling individual's obligation, should be regarded as using foundation earnings for the benefit of the individual.

11. Isn't there something out of gear with the tax law that, under the guise of charity, permits a tax-payer to actually enrich himself at the cost of all other taxpayers? One answer may be to treat gifts to foundations in the same way as private gifts, and figure them at the cost of the property given or their value, whichever is lower.

Hence, where a contribution to a foundation is made in property as distinguished from cash, the deduction would be figured at cost or value, whichever is lower. At present it is figured on value. In all cases, as a result, appreciation escapes tax to the point where high-bracket taxpayers can actually enrich themselves by giving to foundations instead of selling the property.

As an alternative, the difference between value and cost should be added to the contributor's taxable income as a condition to the deduction. At the very least, shouldn't the tax profit on charity giving be eliminated?

Where stock is given to a controlled foundation, the value—for purposes of determining the amount of the deductions—should be reduced by the value of the voting power over the stock that, in effect, has been reserved by the contributor.

12. In the case of corporations that are treated like partnerships (Subchapter S, Chapter 1, Internal Revenue Code), contributions to foundations should "pass through" to the stockholders and be included pro rata as contributions by the stockholders personally. In that way, the 20 percent and 30 percent limitations on contributions will be maintained. At present, through the mechanics of Subchapter S (Chapter 1, Internal Revenue Code), an extra 5 percent of the corporation's income becomes deductible by the stockholders.

13. For the purpose of figuring the accumulation of income, contributions to a foundation and all capital gains of the foundation should be considered as income, and not capital. Both the original contribution and the income from it are ordinarily available to the foundation without distinction.

This would eliminate a device for avoiding unreasonable accumulation of income: contributions from one donor-controlled foundation to other foundations controlled by the same donor.

- 14. For the purpose of computing the accumulation of income, amounts unreasonably accumulated in corporations controlled by a foundation should be added to the foundation's direct accumulation as if the two were one. The use of subsidiary corporations should not be permitted to cloak actual accumulations, as is the case in the Howard Hughes Medical Institute of Miami Beach.
- 15. Corporations controlled by foundations should be subject to the unreasonable accumulation earnings tax in section 531 of the Code. At present, that tax is imposed where dividends are held back to save tax for stockholders. It should also apply where dividends are held back to save the existence of unreasonable accumulations for foundations otherwise exempt from tax.
  - 16. Regift and estate taxes
- (a) Exclude from the base for the marital deduction amounts left to foundations that are hence untaxed.
- (b) While amounts given to foundations are not subject to gift and estate taxes, the rate brackets to be applied to amounts that are taxable should be the same as if the foundation amounts were part of the taxable gifts or estate.

17. Re tax administration

(a) Consideration should be given to a regulatory agency for the supervision of tax-exempt foundations.

In the area of foundations, the Treasury Department has been so lax in enforcement of the law and regulations that it amounts to irresponsibility and a virtual abdication from the task of administration. This might have been overlooked 40 years ago, but times have changed. The increase in the number and size of foundations has drastically altered the situation. Under present-day conditions, the public consequences are much wider and more serious.

During the past 11 years, little has been done by the Treasury to correct abuses or to enforce the Department's responsibility of supervision. The 1960 and 1961 tax reporting by the foundations under study is no better than it was in previous years.

In this area, the Treasury has been intensely preoccupied with trivialities and has shown little concern for the taxpayers who foot the bill. In fact, for tax collectors the Department has shown an undue eagerness to grant exemptions. The Gulf Oil Foundation (assets $32 million) is a case in point. This foundation's application for tax exemption was submitted to the Internal Revenue Service on May 21, 1961. Exemption was granted 2 months later, on July 28, 1961, despite the fact that it had only paid out 50 percent of its income during the first year of operation.

The Harry Herskowitz Foundation, of New York City (assets $1,861,395), is another case in point. Its application for exemption was filed on December 14, 1954. The foundation urged the Internal Revenue Service to grant exemption before the end of the year 1954 because "substantial pledges of contributions this year to this organization, aggregating many thousands of dollars, have been made by a number of persons on condition that this organization be declared exempt from tax, so that such contributions may be allowed to the donors as charitable contributions in accordance with law." Exemption was granted about 2 weeks later, on December 30, 1954.

(b) A penetrating review of every application for tax exemption is needed.

There is every indication that Internal Revenue Service decisions regarding exemption applications do not reflect a uniform application of standards and factors. It is impossible to analyze the exemptions granted by the Service and come up with an understandable pattern of decision.

(c) All matters relating to the granting or denial of tax exemption, as well as revocations and penalties, should be made public.

(d) The full content of foundation tax returns should be open to public inspection.

(e) A national registry of all foundations should be published annually.

(f) The tax returns of foundations should require disclosure of amounts spent for instigating or promoting legislation, or political activities, or amounts paid to other organizations for the purpose.

(g) The returns should likewise require disclosure of amounts spent for TV, radio, and newspaper advertising.

(h) The returns should call for a description of all activities, directly or indirectly engaged in by the foundation, in which commercial organizations are also engaged.

also engaged.

(i) The program of field auditing returns of foundations should be greatly expanded.

(j) Stiff penalties and revocation of tax exemption for improper or insufficient reporting would help curb abuses.

These and other reforms are vitally necessary.
